Pattangall Concedes Election of Brewster

REPUBLICANS WIN MAINE ELECTION BY WIDE MARGIN

Incomplete Returns Give Brewster Majority of 32,000—Fernald Has Lead of 44,100.

SEVERAL PRIMARIES SLATED FOR TODAY

Includes South Carolina Run-Off, Louisiana Congressional and Michigan Republican.

Augusta, Maine, September 8.—William R. Pattangall, democrat, tonight admitted defeat in today's gubernatorial election in which he was opposed by Ralph O. Brewster, republican.

Dan W. Cony, chairman of the democratic state committee, in a statement of the election said: "It is a presidential year, with a New England man running as the republican candidate for president, in a republican state with the republican reserve vote out at the polls. That is one reason for the republican victory. Then again, it has been demonstrated that there are more members of the Ku Klux Klan in the democratic party than we realize. I think the democracy did pretty well to keep the republican vote down."

Portland, Maine, September 9.—Ralph C. Brewster, republican candidate for governor, and Senator Bert M. Fernald, republican candidate for reelection to the United States senate defeated their democratic opponents in the election in Maine Monday on the face of nearly complete returns early this morning.

Returns from 580 precincts out of 633 in the state give:

For governor: Brewster, republican, 126,535; Pattangall, democrat, 93,993.

For senator: Fernald, republican, 125,380; Redman, democrat, 83,258.

The voting precincts included the city of Portland, which gave the republican candidates for governor large pluralities in 1922 and 1920.

Congressmen Re-elected.

The four republican congressmen seeking reelection were well in the lead of their democratic opponents on partial returns. In the first district, where the first returns had shown the vote running very close, returns from 53 of the 92 precincts gave Congressman Carroll N. Beedy, republican, a vote of 16,338 to 11,729 for William M. Ingraham, democrat.

Pattangall made the Ku Klux Klan the leading issue of his campaign for governor. Because Brewster, and the Klan movement in his primary campaign.

Tokio, September 8.—(By the Associated Press.)—Very severe rain and wind storms in Formosa have caused 30 deaths, while 312 persons have been seriously injured. Some 3,200 houses were destroyed and 4,600 damaged.

DAVIS IS TRAILED BY ISSUE OF KLAN ON WESTERN TOUR

Hooded Order Looms as Only Issue in Colorado State and Senatorial Races.

Denver, Colo., September 8.—The Klan has trailed John W. Davis, democratic presidential candidate, two-thirds of the way across the continent.

In denouncing the order by name in his Seagirt speech, Davis attempted to put the issue behind him for all time. But it has stuck doggedly at his heels ever since. It bobbed up at Columbus and again at Chicago, and when the democratic candidate arrived here Monday, he found himself in the midst of one of the bitterest Klan and anti-Klan fights in the country, a fight that has a direct bearing on his political fortunes in Colorado.

G. O. P. Is Klan-Controlled.

The extent to which the issue will affect the national campaign in this state depends upon the outcome of the republican primaries Tuesday. The Klan has captured the republican organization in the state and leaders of widely varying political views predict that the order will name its candidates for governor and probably for senator.

Clarence J. Morley is the Klan candidate for governor. He is opposed by Robert F. Rockwell and Earle Cooley. Morley's chances for the nomination, however, are better than those of Rice W. Means, Klan candidate for the republican senatorial nomination, who is running against Charles J. Moyulian and Charles W. Waterman, both opposed to the order.

To Be Strict Klan Fight.

In the event of Morley's nomination the gubernatorial fight will resolve itself into a Klan and anti-Klan battle, for Governor Sweet, an outspoken Klan foe, is unopposed for the democratic nomination. If Morley is nominated, leaders say that thousands of republicans will vote for the democratic state ticket. As Colorado has the single ballot system, democratic leaders believe such a situation would materially increase Davis' chances for carrying the state.

Although the Klan issue is almost wholly confined to the republican party, leaders say that thousands of democrats will vote in the republican primary. While this vote will be split, the large majority of democratic votes cast in the republican primary will go to the anti-Klan candidate, it is said.

Coolidge in Bad Way.

Although Senator Phipps, running for reelection against Senator Adams, has held aloof from the Klan row in his party, the unpopularity of the republican candidate with farming and laboring elements of the state make the election of Coolidge certain in November. But aside from whatever of republican propaganda may be in it, the article rests on the sincere conviction strongly current among republican leaders at present, that La Follette is going

HARVEY SOUNDS NOTE OF ALARM FOR G. O. P.

Democratic Writer Sees Independent Boom as Advantage to Davis and Burden to Coolidge.

BY MARK SULLIVAN.

Washington, September 8.—With in the past three days the campaign has taken a turn in which some important persons in all three parties practically take it for granted that the election will be thrown into congress. To this fact two exceptions should be stated. There are some well informed politicians who do not believe the election would go into the house even if it were held today. Also, even among those who think the election would go into congress if held today, there are some who believe this condition will not continue until the day in November when the election actually is held.

Colonel George Harvey has a considerable following which looks upon him partly as a partisan spokesman for the republican party, and partly on broader grounds as a diagnostician of political conditions and a prognosticator of the outcome of these conditions.

Sounds Note of Alarm.

Colonel Harvey, since he ceased to be an ambassador to Great Britain, has been editor of Edward B. McLean's more or less formal republican organ, the Washington Post. In this Sunday's Post Colonel Harvey has a signed article written in a temper such as to give it the tone of alarm. Colonel Harvey begins with an earnest warning against the tendency to "deceive ourselves." He then declares, "the simple truth is that 'never before in our history have there been fewer sound bases, either in popular psychology or in trustworthy information, upon which to rest an intelligent forecast of the coming election.'"

Immediately after this assertion, Colonel Harvey rather illogically, but with obvious conviction, declares that "it is doubtful if Coolidge could obtain a clear majority now or next week."

Sound G. O. P. Rally.

As to what is likely to happen next November, Colonel Harvey refrains from prediction, but he ends his article with a republican call to arms saying "The paramount issue is Coolidge or chaos and chaos spells calamity."

In all this there is doubtless a certain amount of republican political art, for it is part of the republican strategy to solicit votes for Coolidge on the theory that the best way to prevent the election from going into congress is to make the election of Coolidge certain in November. But aside from whatever of republican propaganda may be in it, the article rests on the sincere conviction strongly current among republican leaders at present, that La Follette is going

VOLSTEAD REFUSES TO SIGN PETITION OF WET CANDIDATE

Minneapolis, Minn., September 8.—M. P. Cannon, of Minneapolis, circulating a petition for Merle Bingham, also of Minneapolis, who seeks the senatorial toga on the platform of "beer, wine, independence," approached lodgers at a Minneapolis hotel asking for signatures to the petition which will be filed Wednesday.

"Sign this petition for Bingham, beer, wine, independence," Cannon asked of a hotel guest.

"Can't accommodate you, it's against my principles," the guest replied, "my name's Andrew Volstead."

$500,000 THEATER TO BE BUILT HERE WARNERS STATE

President of Company Says Firm Will Erect Twenty Theaters To Exhibit Its Big Pictures.

Los Angeles, Cal., September 8.—(Special.)—Choosing Atlanta as a strategic point in his ten-million-dollar plan to cover the country with palatial theaters in order to combat the combine of exhibitors and producers, who he alleges, are preventing showing of his pictures, H. M. Warner, president of Warner Brothers studio, announced that construction of a half-million-dollar theater in the Georgia city would begin within the next ninety days.

The Atlanta theater will be one of a chain of twenty theaters which the Warner Brothers, who are said to have recently obtained Wall Street backing, intend to build in San Francisco, Portland, Seattle, Denver, Omaha, St. Louis, Kansas City, Chicago, Milwaukee, Minneapolis, Cleveland, Boston, Atlanta, Memphis, Philadelphia, New Orleans, Vancouver, Montreal, and Toronto.

Oscar Oldknow, distributor for Warner Brothers' films in this section, with headquarters in Atlanta, who also claims to have the support of a majority of the provinces, today announced active participation in the fighting which has been in progress for almost a week between the governors of Chekiang and Kiangsu provinces for the possession of this port.

Honanez troops controlled by Wu, it is claimed by the Chekiang headquarters, took part in a heavy attack which the Kiangsu army launched last night against the Chekiang left wing on the Shanghai-Nanking railway near Hwangtu. This attack, the Chekiang leaders claim, was repulsed.

MILK COMMISSION NAMED BY MAYOR

T. G. Chastain, Who Was Appointed Chairman, Will Call Meeting at Early Date.

Mayor Walter Sims announced the membership of the newly created milk commission of the city of Atlanta Monday afternoon, after a series of conferences with all groups interested in providing better milk for the city.

T. G. Chastain, president of the Georgia Milk Producers' association, was appointed chairman; Dr. George Cook, local baby specialist, was named to represent the medical interests of the city, on recommendation of officers of the Fulton County Medical society; Mrs. T. Stevens, president of the Atlanta Federation of Women's clubs, will represent all local civic organizations, and A. S. Nance and J. W. Key, practical dairymen, will take care of the interests of milk producers.

The commission was created by city council at the instance of Alderman W. B. Duval, a physician and chairman of the council sanitary committee, as a step in the direction of improving local milk quality with a view to reducing infant sickness and the infant death rate, which was reported as being unusually high for 1923.

CHINESE WAR CHIEFS ARE ALL UPON MARCH

Wu Pei Fu, Head of Central Government at Peking, Throws Lot With Kiangsu Forces.

Shanghai, September 8.—With civil war enveloping all Eastern China, and with hundreds of thousands of refugees pouring into Shanghai, American marines and other foreign troops have been landed here to protect foreign life and property.

The American marines are on the Wusong boundary of the city, nearest the fighting, and the army of Chi Hsieh Yuan, driving back the defending troops of Lu Yung Hsiang, are nearing the Wusong forts, an important barrier separating them from the city.

Foreign detachments are now guarding the entire border of Shanghai. Meanwhile, the other war chiefs of China are all believed to be on the march. Chang Tso Lin, military dictator of Manchuria, is reported advancing toward Peking with the announced intention of killing President Tso Kuo and General Wu Pei-Fu, leader of the Chi Hsi party. Wu himself, is said to be directing Chi's attack on Shanghai, and Sun Yat Sen is reported marching from the far south toward the Shanghai battlefield to aid Lu Yung Hsiang.

WU PEI-FU THROWS STRENGTH TO KIANGSU.

Shanghai September 8.—(By the Associated Press.)—General Wu Pei-Fu, chief of the military forces of the central government at Peking, and who also claims to have the support of a majority of the provinces, today announced active participation in the fighting which has been in progress for almost a week between the governors of Chekiang and Kiangsu provinces for the possession of this port.

Senatorial Race Closes With Harris and Hardwick Making Final Statements

Hardwick Raps Harris and Ku Klux Klan in Closing Address Monday at Decatur.

Thomas W. Hardwick closes his campaign for the senate Monday night in Decatur. In his closing address he reviewed the issues of the campaign at length and predicted his election on Wednesday by a substantial majority of both popular and county unit votes, ridiculing the claims of Senator Harris as "preposterous and absurd."

Replying to the statement of Senator Harris published on Sunday, with reference to the Klan, Mr. Hardwick said: "The statement of Mr. Harris sheds more heat than light. Mr. Harris says that he is not a member now and never has been a member of the Klan organization, or affiliated with it."

"His statement neither touches nor covers the case. We all know that when men who belong to it are asked if they are Klansmen or not, they will deny it, which while literally true, are false in substance. I believe and charge this to be the case," Mr. Harris.

Cites Klan Letter.

"Against his denial I put the letter of Mrs. Tyler, who helped organize the Klan, was one of its national officers, and must have known what she was talking about. She could have had no motive in misrepresenting the facts when her letter was written on March 16, 1922. Her letter has been genuine. Her signature to it has been examined and verified by one of our high standing, who know her signature from years of business dealing with her."

"This letter has been photographed and will be published as widely as possible in Georgia, so that each voter can weigh it and consider it. "Besides, consider for a moment the inferences that must be drawn from the conduct of Mr. Harris himself. In this letter Mr. Harris is described by Mrs. Tyler as a devoted friend of the Klan. In his statement Mr. Harris does not deny that."

"For weeks I have been publicly charging Mr. Harris with membership in the Klan, and have called on him to deny it if he could, and in any event to state his position on the question of Ku Kluxism in politics in plain and unmistakable terms, as I have done, and as Mr. Davis, democratic candidate for president, has done."

Says Harris Evades.

"Mr. Harris, while denying membership in phrases that may be wholly deceitful, absurdly refuses and fails even at the last moment to state his views on this important question, and still leaves the voter in the dark as to his position on it. The voter is entitled to this information before his or her ballot is cast. No honest man or woman in Georgia, who is opposed to Ku Kluxism in politics ought to vote for Mr. Harris, as long as Mr. Harris conceals his views and masks his position on this question."

"I do not understand that, because he is not understood that, because he never possessed either principles or convictions."

Holly Denies Charges.

"The statement of Mr. Harris that I was given the republican appointment by a republican administration as a reward for 'treachery' is another deliberate and wilful misstatement on his part, because he knows full well the place to which the late President Harding appointed me, shortly before his death and from which I resigned on April 15 last, was a place on a bi-partisan advisory board, and that I was appointed to it as a democrat, succeeding another democrat, Senator Thomas, of Colorado, himself a Georgian born."

"Mr. Harris takes an ill-natured fling at my record in 'war and peace.' Mr. Harris has no record to speak of in either. In war he was never a soldier, in peace he was never a statesman. In both he has always been just what he is today, a side-stepping and double-dealing politician."

Harris Claims State—Reviews Platform and Record and Issues Warning To Friends.

Senator W. J. Harris Monday night expressed confidence in his overwhelming reelection to the United States senate and predicted his opponent would not carry five counties.

In a statement the senior senator said: "The issues in this campaign are clearly drawn and clearly defined. My candidacy is based entirely on my record, and the false statements, speeches, letters and advertisements of my opponent have not confused the people of Georgia. Mr. Hardwick had hoped to hide his own record in war and in peace by attempting to raise false issues."

"On Wednesday the great hosts of honorable and decent men and women in Georgia are not going to forget my record, and the record of my opponent. As active workers at the polls there will be found thousands of men and women among the war veterans, the farmers, the laboring and professional people, who do not forget the contrasts in my record and the record of Mr. Hardwick on prohibition, help for the farmers, support of the armed forces in time of war and abuse of Woodrow Wilson and Thomas E. Watson."

Hits Opponent's Record.

"The falseness and baseness of the last minute effort of my opponent in making a manufactured charge is apparent to all of the people. He is chafing under the collapse of his campaign and the unmistakable attitude of the people of Georgia towards his record in war and in peace."

"I am confident of the result on Wednesday and I am grateful to the hosts of friends and supporters everywhere who assure me of their active interest at the polls in making the sure, the overwhelming victory."

RESTATEMENT PLATFORM AND REVIEWS RECORD.

Senator William J. Harris in final review of his record on which he stands for reelection issues the following statement as being the platform on which he stands in asking to be returned to the senate:

"To the People of Georgia: Six years ago you did me the honor of electing me to the United States senate. In announcing as a candidate for reelection to this high office it seems appropriate that I should call attention briefly to some of the things I have been able to do in spite of the fact that the republicans have had substantial majorities in both the senate and house. My candidacy is based solely on my record of accomplishments, which I hope has merited your approval."

"Realizing that our farmers, laborers, manufacturers and merchants were in need of substantial assistance I have spent my time laboring for them in a constructive way, rather than making partisan political speeches. I have worked in harmony with my colleagues in the senate and have had the cordial support of the Georgia members of congress in all the laws and measures of concern to the people. While I have interested myself in all general legislation I have allowed nothing to prevent me from giving special attention to matters, large and small, that would in any way help the people of Georgia."

"It is well known that nearly all legislation is framed in committee, and I am fortunate in being next to the ranking member of the senate on appropriations, the most important of all committees. No other legislative committee in the world controls appropriations for such large amounts. I am also the only member from the southeast on the subcommittee of eight members each that handle all appropriations for agriculture, commerce, good roads, postoffices, rural routes, rivers and harbors, military posts, hospitals, labor and interior departments in which the people of Georgia are vitally interested."

Cites War Service.

"At the time of my nomination and election in 1918 our brave boys were fighting in the greatest and most destructive war of all history. While they, in cooperation with our allies, were slowly but surely driving back the Germans, thousands of the flower of young American manhood were daily sacrificing their lives for our country and humanity. I promised you then that I would do everything in my power to help win the war and get our boys back home. I went to France when the war closed at my own expense, to see about the health and comfort of the Georgia soldiers and there arranged for many of them to come home before the soldiers of other states. I was the only senator to do this. It has been my privilege to render assistance to thousands of veterans during and since demobilization. I also helped to amend a bill so that one of the five big hospitals could be located in Augusta, Ga."

"I have supported woman suffrage."

48 GUNS TO ROAR SALUTE TO AIRMEN ON THEIR ARRIVAL

Troops in Washington District To Be Paraded at Their Posts Upon Order of General Pershing.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE TO RECEIVE AVIATORS

Tribute to "Unknown Hero" Will Be Paid Before Fliers Pass on to Landing Field.

Washington, September 8.—Preparations to receive the army world fliers on their arrival in Washington tomorrow were given something of a national character today when General Pershing issued personal orders, directing that troops in the Washington district be paraded at their posts at the time the air squadron circles over the city, and that suitable military honors be paid. The reception tendered the world-girdling air men here will be given the aspect of a greeting expressing the honor and the pride the nation feels in their achievement.

President Coolidge plans to be at Bolling field in the outskirts of the city when the world fliers land there. He was understood to be very anxious to witness their arrival and extend greetings in his own behalf and in the name of the American people if the time of their arrival would permit him to do so. In any event, Secretary Weeks, other cabinet officers and high officials of the government are scheduled to meet the squadron at the flying field.

Salute With 48 Guns.

At district of Washington headquarters, staff officers were busy tonight preparing for a noisy welcome when the air squadron leaves in sight. A national salute of 48 guns, the highest honors paid in the American military service, will be roared off by field guns stationed on the ellipse back of the white house as the fliers separate from the escorting squadron and swing by overhead, bound for Arlington National cemetery across the Potomac to pay their own tribute at the tomb of America's "unknown hero" before they pass on to their landing at Bolling field.

The national salute will be repeated by the guns at Fort Myer, adjoining the cemetery, as the fliers reach that point and it will be amid the thunder of cannon that they let fall upon the tomb the flowers they bring with them from New York.

The full garrison at Fort Myer will stand at present arms, saluting the comrades of the air as the planes sweep by overhead. Around the tomb on the terrace of this memorial amphitheatre, a troop of cavalry will be stationed as a guard of honor, and at all other posts in the district where army forces are stationed, the troops will be in line as the machines pass above them, extending their own army greeting to the daring aviators who already virtually have encircled the earth by air.

In accordance with the ruling approved and desired by Lieutenant Lowell H. Smith, flight commander, the ceremonies of reception to the fliers after they set foot on land at Bolling field will not be protracted.

The army band and necessary marching troops to keep the field clear will be stationed at the field to do the initial greeting. Escorting planes, which will meet the world fliers over Baltimore, will leave them as they pass into the District of Columbia and proceed directly to the field, so that the aviators who have crossed two oceans may proceed alone to pay their tribute at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

Greeting Will Be Informal.

When the world fliers make their landing later, they will be greeted informally by government officials assembled at the field and then go to luncheon with their comrades of the air service at the field mess. Later in the day, they will come to the state, war and navy building to pay their respects to Secretary Weeks.

General Pershing had hoped to be present on their arrival to greet them and his plans for the week kept to-day free for that purpose in the expectation that the fliers would reach Washington today. An unavoidable engagement in New York, however, will prevent his having any personal share in the reception tomorrow.

Major General Patrick, chief of the air service, who has been present in person at the reception accorded the fliers in New England and New York, also will share in the honors paid to them here. The crews of the world-circling ships will be his guests at dinner tomorrow night, and unless some unforeseen circumstance prevents, the ships will be off again Wednesday morning to McCook field at Dayton, Ohio, on the first stage of the 3,000-mile trip to Seattle, that alone will stand between them and the actual accomplishment through American pluck and energy of the first circumnavigation of the globe by air.

ONE ESCORT PLANE CRASHES IN WALL.

Providence, R. I., September 8.—One of the escort planes accompanying the world fliers on the hop from East Boston air port to Mitchell field, piloted by Lieutenant Earl S. Hong and Louis Jankowski, mechanician, was wrecked today when the engine went dead. The plane crashed into a stone wall as Lieutenant Hong tried to volplane to an open field. Both men escaped with minor scratches about the face, but the plane was badly damaged.

EXPERTS ARE ANXIOUS TO EXAMINE MACHINES.

Washington, September 8.—Army air service experts are waiting with growing interest an opportunity to read the wordless story of the flight around the world, written in the mechanical condition of the world's greatest aircraft at the end of their journey. The tale will be told in the course of a minute inspection to which the planes will be subjected at Bolling field, San Diego, after the first air trip around the earth has been completed. The machines will be completely disassembled. Every part will be examined, measured and tested, and results of the technical study will be compared with similar records made before the planes started their amazing journey.

Experts expect the comparison to throw a flood of new scientific light upon technical question of airplane construction. It is expected also to insure that future American-built aircraft will be designed in accordance with fact and scientific knowledge of the strains and stresses which the machines may be called upon to endure.

The tentative schedule for the squadron, when it leaves Washington probably next Wednesday to fill in the gap that will complete the first air circle around the earth, will carry it to its ultimate destination via San Antonio, Ohio; Chicago, St. Joseph, Mo.; Fort Creek, Neb.; North Platte, Neb.; Cheyenne, Wyo.; Rock Springs, Wyo.; Salt Lake, Utah; Seldore, Utah; Reno, Nev.; Sacramento, Cal.; Eugene Ore., and thence to Seattle.

With the flight completed at Seattle, the world's first air trip around the globe will be complete. The machines will be reassembled for a leisurely flight back to Washington, where they will probably be given over to the Smithsonian institution to rest in honored illness among the exhibits denoting American enterprise.

After this study has been completed the machines will be reassembled for a leisurely flight back to Washington, where they will probably be given over to the Smithsonian institution to rest in honored illness among the exhibits denoting American enterprise assembled at that museum. The machines will be flown back to Washington by their original crews, and it is then that the opportunity for ceremonies along the way across the continent will be afforded.

MARINE TROOPS LAND IN SHANGHAI

The fighting was reported to be severe, a western and eastern force of the sound of the firing to Shanghai and leading to the belief that the Chekiang force had been defeated and was retreating towards the city.

Foreigners Relieved. The residents of the foreign settlement were much relieved when the commanders of the foreign warships, anchored in the Whangpoo river off the city, announced that marines would be landed at daybreak to protect their nationals. The volunteer corps, composed of foreigners, also was ordered mobilized.

Successes also were claimed by the Chekiang headquarters in an attack which one of their armies, under the leadership of General Chen Yao-San, with the assistance of some Fukien troops, started against Kiangsu west of the Taihu (lake district), near the Chekiang-Kiangsu border. The objective of this attack, it was stated, was Changchow, on the Shanghai-Nanking railway, where it was hoped to get behind the Kiangsu force attacking at Hangtung. This army, however, has some way to go to reach its objective, having first to overcome a small Kiangsu army at Thing, near the border.

Chekiang Army Victorious. The Chekiang army also reported a victory at Liuhou, on the Yangtze river, where its right wing, on the line defending Shanghai from attacks from the west, rests.

General Chang Tso-lin, dictator of Manchuria, was defeated by Wu in 1922, has threatened to attack Wu from the north, thus hoping to prevent him from sending any of his Chihli army to the support of Kiangsu. Chang being allied with Lu Yung-Hsiang, the tuchun of Chekiang.

There is also talk of Dr. Sun Yat Sen taking a hand on the side of Chekiang, but Sun has for some time been in low waters financially and General Chen Chung-Ming, Kwangtung military leader supported by Wu, has been awaiting an opportunity to enter Canton, Sun's city. The latter, therefore, probably has his hands full at home.

Seven Million in New York

RIOTOUS WELCOME GIVEN AT MITCHELL FIELD

Stretch Necks To See Fliers

BY OTIS PEARBOY SWIFT.

Mitchell Field, Mineola, L. I., September 8.—There they come! A city of seven million people stretch necks to see the fliers. A city of black dots appeared, hung halfway up the misty bowl at the eastern sky. The dots grew in size, spelling nearer. They seemed a flock of great migratory birds, hurrying south before the touch of autumn in the air.

Separated from the others, somewhat below their lighter companions, three darker, heavier shapes flew in V-formation. These were the planes of the round-the-world fliers. The crowd were the escort craft welcoming them to New York after the 22,000-mile coastal run from the Boston airport.

After passing New York's airport, the planes scattered as they neared Mitchell field. The three flew on alone. The great grandstand that rose from the flying field was packed with excited people. Generals paraded admirals, millionaires elbowed tanned lieutenants, whose rows of medals and wings gleamed on their chests as they waved. Beautiful women everywhere, beamed, bejeweled, with red lips, chic costumes, sparkling eyes. On tip-toe they turned their backs on an excited, laughing younger crowd, to gaze at the flying machines. The cynosure of all eyes a moment before—Albert Edward, Prince of Wales.

Smiths Lands First. The planes were only a few miles from the grandstand when the first of the world fliers, the "Popeye," a biplane, landed. The crowd roared. Crowds Break Through. Khaki-clad soldiers and blue-coated policemen, arms locked, struggled to hold back that joyous crowd. But asked him what he intended to do with the leave he would get at Santa Monica. Smith smiled, hearing the roar of the 10,000 still jammed beyond the hangar room.

What Smith Will Do. Later, at the hangars, a newspaper man found Lieutenant Smith. Smith, who he intended to do with the leave he would get at Santa Monica. Smith smiled, hearing the roar of the 10,000 still jammed beyond the hangar room.

Monday evening the airman underwent a strict physical examination here. There are no indications that it is necessary. All seen in the best of condition. Lieutenant Smith's flight is but a lined, but he laughingly says that "the fine line" and has "looked tired for years." Officers of Mitchell field arranged a small dinner and reception for them, and then the airman turned in for a good night's sleep before his return to Washington. They are scheduled to begin the Washington flight at 9 a. m. Tuesday, and are due at Bolling field, Washington, shortly after noon.

Ministers have sent a further note to the Chinese foreign office requesting the necessity for reestablishing the neutral zone on the Hwang-Pu river, on which Shanghai is situated.

U. S. NAVAL FORCES CONSIDERED SUFFICIENT. Washington, September 8.—Naval forces at Shanghai are considered ample to handle any situation which may arise. Admiral Washington, commanding the Asiatic fleet, reported to the navy department today in a dispatch which apparently had been delayed several days in transit.

The message described the establishment of a blockade by General Chi at Kia Chang and added: "Am informed that the generals have appointed representatives to lay out neutral zone pending peace in China, representatives to meet with peace commissioner. He would not begin fighting, but only defend Kiangsu against General Lu. He has also guaranteed safety of foreign lives and property."

U. S. Pigeon informed by Admiral Fu that no orders had been issued against ships opening hostilities, but he would not do so until military forces clash. The admiral further stated that he would inform U. S. S. Pigeon up to date of the situation, but he did not intend attacking Kiang Nan at all, and that there would be no danger to foreign settlement."

OFFICERS BATTLE CHILE POLITICIANS

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Santiago, Chile, September 8.—Tense excitement prevailed here today after it became known that a reunion of national officers at Valparaiso last night adopted resolutions aligning the army and navy in a solid front against the politicians.

The naval officers adopted the motto, the people demand a clean administration without politics.

There was much speculation as to how congress would receive the newly reorganized cabinet.

SENATE AND HOUSE RECEIVE NEW CABINET. Santiago, Chile, September 8.—(By the Associated Press.)—The senate and the house of representatives this afternoon received the new cabinet, headed by General Luis Alvarado, which was sworn in last Friday night after three days of excitement on the part of the people because of the tangled political situation.

When the members of the new ministry faced the senate, there were no speeches. General Alvarado merely said that the government desired prompt approval of congress of pending bills looking to the welfare of the country. The chairman of the senate then consulted with the members, who gave their approval to all pending bills. Immediately afterward, the cabinet went to the lower house, where the same program was carried out.

Shortly after the receipt of the cabinet by congress, the military commander issued a declaration as follows: "First, the military movement has not and will in no sense have political character; second, the movement was inspired exclusively by supreme requirements to save the nation, caused by political and administrative corruption, and it will not end until it has been amply fulfilled; third, it is declared there is no intention to make or establish a military government or to introduce a dictatorship of any kind."

Large crowds of the populace today acclaimed the new ministers as they went to and returned from the Moneda palace. There was considerable excitement in Santiago during the day, but there were no untoward demonstrations.

NEWS DISPATCHES CENSORED. Buenos Aires, September 8.—News dispatches filed at Santiago, dealing with the political situation in Chile, are subject to the censorship. Telegraphic inquiries sent from here to Santiago today for news of political developments were answered by a message that the censor would not allow the sending of the information.

Shots Hit Girl, 17, and Unveil Secret Romance. Newton, Ga., September 8.—Since the shooting last Wednesday by Ira Jones of a 12-year-old Newton girl known to friends as Miss Maude Bentley, it has come to light that she is married and that her name is Mrs. Marshall. Her husband, it is said, lives in Alabama.

Little is known of her marriage here, but it is now believed that it came about because of this secret romance. Mrs. Marshall's husband, it is said, lives in Alabama.

WOUNDED WOMAN LIES NEAR DEATH. Albany, Ga., September 8.—(Special.)—Mrs. Maude Marshall, known until today as Miss Maude Bentley, of Newton, tonight lies near death at a local hospital and lies silent concerning the secret romance she guarded so closely before she was made the target of two bullets fired by her sweetheart, Ira Jones, last Wednesday. She formerly was silent from choice. Tonight she is, as she has been since the shooting, unable to make a statement.

Her present condition of the shooting may never be known, doctors said tonight, as they battled to save her life. Members of the family today said she was married a short while ago while on a visit to Alabama.

Jones, brother of Chief of Police Jones, of Albany, has not been found.

METHODISTS ACCEPT UNION INVITATION. Richmond, Mo., September 8.—The invitation to unite with the Northern Methodist church was accepted unanimously by the 108th annual Missouri conference of Methodist Episcopal church, south, which closed its sessions here today.

a niece of Mrs. Cliff C. Hatcher, of 63 Peachtree circle.

Miss Lonsdale was going south in Spring street, it is said, while Ravel was driving his car across Spring street in Alexander street.

Police investigating the accident reported it to have been unavoidable.

Four Services Today. The four victims of the street car automobile crash at Haywood Sunday afternoon will be laid to rest this afternoon—J. O. Landers, his wife and their 12-month-old babe, Floyd, in the College Park cemetery, while Clara, ("Buddie") Monroe, 13 years old, will be buried in Mt. Zion cemetery, just off Stewart avenue.

Funeral services for the Landers will be held at the home in Egan Park at 3:30 o'clock, while services for the Monroe boy will be held at 1:30 o'clock at the Temple of the East Point, will be in charge of both funerals.

Mr. and Mrs. Landers are survived by four children, a son, William, and three daughters, Mrs. V. H. Herrin, Mrs. Weldon Herrin and Miss Louise Landers. Mr. Landers also left four sisters, Mrs. Clarence Herrin, Mrs. Mamie B. Flower, Mrs. Luther McBurney and Mrs. Ezra Herrin.

Clara Monroe is survived by her mother, Mrs. Lamanda Monroe; two brothers, two sisters, and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Watkins and Mrs. Mary Monroe.

No Arrest Made. Chief A. J. Wynne, of the Hapeville police force, stated Monday night that no arrest had been made in connection with the accident, which occurred about 5:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon. He said that his investigation had not been completed.

Fourteen-year-old William Landers, who was in the ill-fated automobile his father was driving, Monday night was reported to be out of danger.

The collision occurred on the Hapeville street car line at a point between Whipple and Lang avenues. The street car, which was going toward Hapeville, was in charge of Mr. L. L. Brooks and Conductor J. D. Turner.

Mr. and Mrs. Landers and their

Judge's Decision On Leopold, Loeb Is Being Typed

Chicago, September 8.—An answer to the question as to what should be done with two young and brilliant college students, whose philosophy led them to the murder of a 14-year-old boy, is being typed by a stenographer.

Judge John R. Caverly announced Monday that he had reached a decision as to whether Richard Loeb and Nathan Leopold, Jr., should hang or serve a penitentiary term for the murder of Robert Frank. His secretary, sworn to secrecy, has been given the decision.

The last preliminary in preparation for the sentence Wednesday morning at 9:30 o'clock consisted of efforts to insure that the sentence would be passed in a quiet courtroom free from the curious public. A guard of 30 mounted policemen will be placed around the court building.

Loeb and Leopold were unconcerned about the sentence, judging by their conduct. When Leopold was ready to be pronounced, he said: "I don't feel nervous."

"Why worry? What change would worry make in the judge's decision, which has already been written. No I don't feel nervous."

Loeb exhibited the same unconcern. Leopold spent part of Monday writing from memory what he said was his favorite poem—"The Window Overlooking the Harbor," by Laurence Hope. He sent a copy of it to Clarence Darrow, his attorney. The poem is a long one dealing with the utility of life and love.

Whether it is life or death for the "super-intellectuals" when they stand before Judge Caverly, it is almost certain that they will receive it with apparent indifference.

Probably Leopold will now gracefully to the judge, Loeb, who has not attained his companion's distinction of manner, probably will grin and wait for the deputy sheriff to lead him back to the bull-pen.

LEWIS REAPPOINTED ON TARIFF BOARD. Washington, September 8.—President Coolidge today reappointed David J. Lewis, of Maryland, as a member of the tariff commission. Mr. Lewis is a democrat.

Killed by Auto.

Jacksonville, Fla., September 8.—Thos. Lovett, 29, a Dinsmore farmer, who was struck by an automobile Saturday night alleged to have been driven by F. P. Darland, of this city, died this morning in a hospital. Darland was arrested following the accident. He was docketed at headquarters on charges of careless driving of an automobile. Later police released him on his own recognizance. He declared the accident unavoidable.

Pride of Tool Lovers

Men who know fine tools love to use the Trimo Pipe Wrench. Its drop-forged jaws and handle, strong, pressed steel frame and strip-proof threads enable it to withstand years of hard service.

Insert jaw in handle is readily replaceable when worn, making this superior wrench actually cheapest in the long run. Made in all sizes, and sold by all good dealers. Insist on the "Trimo."

TO THE VOTERS OF DEKALB COUNTY:

For the past seven months I have been serving as Ordinary of DeKalb County, having been elected in February to fill the unexpired term of the late Judge James R. George.

In the primary of September 10th I am asking for your hands the nomination for re-election in order that I may have a full term.

Mr. E. H. (Cap) Mason, for a number of years Clerk of the Court of Ordinary under Judge George, is serving in that capacity with me and, if I am successful, Mr. Mason will be with me and continue to serve you for the next four years.

Your vote and influence on September 10th will be appreciated and I will serve you honestly and efficiently. I favor the salary system of paying county officers.

Yours sincerely,

V. S. Morgan
Candidate for Re-election as Ordinary.

Wayne Allen Alleges Effort of Howard Forces to Defeat Him For Legislature on Account of Indorsement of McClelland

To the People of Fulton County:

Sometime ago, along with the majority of the members of the Atlanta bar, I signed a statement endorsing Judge L. F. McClelland's character and fitness for the position of Judge of the Fulton Superior Court. For that endorsement the Howard campaign forces have singled me out for attack in my race for the legislature.

At a political meeting on Friday night, Sept. 5, John L. Cone, the campaign manager of Judge Howard, stated to a friend and supporter of mine that the Howard forces were going to defeat me for the legislature on account of that endorsement. He further stated that all Howard supporters were going to vote against me on account of it, and that they were going to see that I was not elected as one of Fulton County's Representatives in the Legislature.

I have not heretofore taken part in the race for the Judgeship, and I am not taking part in that race now. But since this unjustifiable attack is being made upon me, I am writing this card to set the record right.

I did sign an endorsement of Judge McClelland and I signed it sincerely and honestly. I signed it because he was my personal friend and I knew his fine qualities of mind and heart. But above all, I signed this endorsement because of the knowledge I had of his eminent fitness for the position he seeks.

By experience as a practicing attorney in the courts I have had abundant opportunity to observe his rare judicial acumen. I have seen the fidelity with which he sought after truth and justice, and the splendid impartiality of his every decision.

I have never said one word of condemnation of Judge Howard, but since his campaign committee has seen fit to assail me, I cannot refrain from stating what my sentiments are in regard to his support. While I have no enmity against him personally, I cannot support him for Judge of the Superior Court. The integrity and ability of our judiciary are bulwarks of our liberties, and as a lawyer and as a citizen I have always cherished the hitherto unimpeachable record of Fulton County's Judges. Not one breath of suspicion has heretofore been uttered against them.

But Judge Howard secured his office under a cloud. His recent political record has been one of first for Peter and then for Paul. His career as a Judge, it seems, is susceptible to criticism. I could not under any circumstances support him when a man of Judge McClelland's character and ability is opposed to him.

However, I am offering for the legislature solely upon my character and fitness for that office. I have given a great deal of study to governmental questions and I sincerely feel that my training and experience ably fit me for the Legislature. The only criterion by which a candidate for the Legislature should be judged is that candidate's fitness for the office.

ARMY ASSOCIATION WILL MEET TONIGHT

Lieutenant Colonel Eugene Oberdorfer, 122d Infantry, National Guard, president of the Association of the Army of the United States, announced Monday there will be a meeting of the association in the breakfast room of the Kimball house, at 6:30 o'clock tonight.

Colonel Oberdorfer said he hoped to see all officers or ex-officers of the regular, national guard and reserves at the meeting, whether they are members or not, because all are eligible to join the association.

Colonel R. H. Williams will be principal speaker and will give out the latest information on the defense test parade to be held Friday afternoon, September 12.

Election of officers will be held at this meeting, which Col. Oberdorfer said is the first of the season. The 22d Infantry orchestra from Fort McPherson will be present.

Thousands Plan To Attend Pan-American Congress Here

Several thousand prominent South Americans will come to Atlanta to participate in the Pan-American congress, according to Dr. Clarence J. Owens, commercial agent in a wire to members here.

The list of speakers will include General George W. Goethals, builder of the Panama canal, and Colonel E. Silra, of the Cuban army.

The congress meets in Atlanta October 1-4, which dates were arranged so that those in attendance may be able to see the Southeastern fair in full blast.

Dr. Owens and Phineas V. Stephens will arrive from New York Wednesday and open headquarters at the Ansley hotel. For the past month they have been actively engaged in preparing the program.

Ralph M. Tbor, of Havana, will arrive next week to act as translator for the French, Spanish and Portuguese visitors.

The Panamanian president has accepted an invitation to be present and it is confidently expected that Dr. Alfredo Zayas, president of Cuba, and Madam Zayas also will be here as he has declined to be a candidate for reelection to the presidency in November.

The largest body which has accepted an invitation to the congress is that of the consul generals, vice generals and consular agents in this country.

Four Atlanta cigar dealers were the first victims of a drive instituted by the state revenue department to enforce amendments to the state cigar and cigarette tax law, enacted by the recent general assembly, and requiring that stamps be affixed to cigars and cigarettes as soon as the products are received by the retailers.

The dealers were bound over to the Atlanta criminal court under bonds of $100 each in municipal court Monday, on a charge of violating the cigar and cigarette tax law. They were R. C. Farnsworth, proprietor of the cigar stand at the Cecil hotel; St. George Smith, operator of a cigar stand at Ivy and Cain streets; T. C. Athan, proprietor of the cigar stand at the Robert Fulton hotel, and the Luckie Street Drug Store, and Charles Schecterson, of 150 Ivy street.

The cases were all made by H. G. Bell, chief deputy revenue commissioner, who is visiting all cigar stands in Atlanta and vicinity.

Under the law, before it was amended, the dealers were not required to affix the stamps until the cigars or cigarettes were displayed for sale, but the amendment makes it necessary that the stamp be placed on them as soon as the product is received by the retail dealer.

Floridan Views Work in Europe In Naval Stores

J. G. Pace, of Pensacola, Fla., one of the leading figures in lumber and turpentine industries in that state, passed through Atlanta Monday en route to his home after a tour of inspection of the European centers of the naval stores business.

Mr. Pace was chairman of a commission appointed by J. C. Nash, general chairman of the naval stores trade commission. He was given special authority from Washington to investigate the turpentine industry in Europe, with particular reference to the care of pine timber, reforestation work, and turpentine manufacturing.

Mr. Pace is enthusiastic about the opportunities for realizing on the natural wealth in south Georgia and Florida, if owners of the land will only awake to the wealth that lies in their young pine timber.

"In France," Mr. Pace said, "the greater part of the turpentine industry of Europe centers in France. They have had to plant, care for and bring to maturity the pine trees which are given to us by nature and which will bring untold wealth to us if we will only care for them and practice intelligent reforestation work as the older timber is exhausted."

Mr. Pace said that France produces about 25 per cent as much turpentine and resin as the United States, while Sweden produces a smaller amount. They use three systems of distillation there, he said, the fire system, vacuum system and steam system, while in the southern states only one, the fire system, is used. As a result, he states, the quality of the European produced resin is higher.

A full report of the commission's findings, on the tour headed by Mr. Pace, is to be issued in a few days, he stated, by the forestry bureau of the department of agriculture at Washington, when it will be given to the public.

Mr. Pace is president of the Pace Lumber Company, of Pensacola, and the Pace Turpentine company, of the same place.

CULVERWELL SENT TO JAIL, FINED $5 IN CHECK FORGERY

Robert W. Culverwell, formerly of 229 Washington street, was sentenced Monday to serve 30 days in prison and pay a fine of $5, when he entered a plea of guilty to forging a government check. Judge Robert T. Ervin, sitting in this district of federal court, passed sentence. An indictment was returned against Culverwell by the federal grand jury Monday, and a few hours later he entered a plea of guilty.

According to H. Brooke Arnold, head of the Atlanta bureau of secret service, Culverwell stole the check for $9 from a mail box in the Washington street apartment house, appropriating the amount. He was arrested in New Orleans on July 24 by secret service agents, and returned to Atlanta August 3.

MASONIC LUNCHEON WILL BE FEATURED BY DANCING SKIT

Through courtesy of the Metropolitan theater, a dancing skit, "The Beach at Waikiki," will be presented before the Atlanta Masonic club at the club's weekly luncheon at 12:30 o'clock today at the Peacock cafe.

The skit will be presented by Enrico Leide, of the Metropolitan theater, and conductor of the Atlanta Symphony orchestra. Among those participating will be Miss Betty Ennis, popular Atlanta dancer; Harry Roblin, on the violin; Meyer Segall, on the mandolin; Julius Schonen, on the oboe, and Adolph Verdi on the piano.

PLANS ARE COMPLETED FOR BIG TRAFFIC MEET

Plans were completed for entertainment of delegates to the convention of the Associated Traffic Clubs of America, which will be in session at the Biltmore hotel October 15-17, at a meeting of the Atlanta Traffic club, held Monday in the Chamber of Commerce building.

Governor Is Speaker.

Governor Clifford Walker visited Cuthbert Monday to deliver an address on the occasion of the opening of Cuthbert public schools. He is expected back at his office in the Capital Tuesday afternoon.

NEGRO IS CARRIED TO MILLEDGEVILLE TO ELECTRIC CHAIR

Howard Hinton, DeKalb county negro, the first person sentenced to be electrocuted in Georgia under the recently enacted law which abolishes hanging, left the DeKalb county jail Monday for Milledgeville, where he is scheduled to die in the electric chair at the state prison farm Saturday. Hinton was transported to Milledgeville in an automobile in company of Sheriff J. A. McCurdy, of DeKalb county; A. S. Robinson, chief of the DeKalb county police; Deputy Sheriff L. M. Rogers and County Policeman L. S. Henderson.

The new electric chair and death chamber, while not yet completed, will be fully installed and ready for the execution of Hinton, it was stated Monday by Judge T. E. Patterson, of the Georgia prison commission.

STATE ENGINEERS HERE IN OCTOBER PLANNING MEETING

Plans for a state-wide meeting of Georgia engineers, to be held in Atlanta October 17 and 18, were discussed Monday at the monthly meeting of the Georgia section of the American Society of Civil Engineers at the Peacock cafe. As a special feature of the October session, reservations have been made for the Georgia Tech-Penn State football game, to be played here October 18.

The society also voted unanimous endorsement of W. A. Hansell, candidate for reelection as chief of construction of the city of Atlanta.

The principal address at the meeting was delivered by Lamar Lyndon, noted engineer, now making an industrial survey of Atlanta, whose talk dealt with problems confronting the engineering profession.

F. SANDERS ATTENDING POSTAL CLERKS' MEET

Floyd R. Sanders, an employee of the Atlanta post office for the past 12 years, left Sunday for Minneapolis, where he will attend the twenty-fifth annual convention of the National Association of Postal Clerks as delegate from the local branch. He will remain in Minneapolis until the close of the convention on September 12.

"No senator has taken deeper interest in the matter of immigration. During my first year in the senate I introduced a bill prohibiting all immigration for at least five years, and have consistently urged the passage of such a measure, both in the committee on immigration, of which I am a member, and on the floor of the senate. While I failed in my effort to stop altogether the flow of foreigners to our shores, I was honored by being designated as one of the five conferees from the senate to meet with the five house members and took

James A. Perry Answers the Libelous and Slanderous Attacks on Him by John T. Boiffeuillet

The article by Mr. John T. Boiffeuillet in the daily papers last Sunday, in which he charges that Mr. O. R. Bennett, his opponent, is a mere "stalking horse" of mine, has an unmistakable meaning to the mind of any one who has had the slightest experience in politics. Mr. Boiffeuillet unquestionably believes that he is defeated. I have not been aware of his personal hatred for me, as reflected in his tirade of abuse and misstatements of facts. I am not a candidate for office in the coming primary. His article of misrepresentations was designed to belaud his own shortcomings, as a member of the Public Service Commission, as have been pointed out by Mr. Bennett, and to which he has made no effort to reply, except as relates to his newspaper work. He would have you believe that his animosity towards me grew out of the fact that, as alleged by him, I was disappointed in not being elected Chairman of the Commission in 1923. His feeling towards me had an entirely different beginning. I was not a candidate for the Chairmanship. He did the Commission never asked a single member to vote for me; on the contrary, I voluntarily stated to Mr. Trammell in advance of the meeting, at which the Chairman was elected, that I would vote for him.

Effective January, 1923, the appropriation for the Commission was approximately doubled, with the positive promise that if the legislature would give us this extra $35,000.00, the Commission would be in a position to go to work. With this promise in mind, at the first meeting of the Commission in 1923, I proposed a plan of work that called for daily sessions of the Commission. This act on my part was treated by Mr. Boiffeuillet as a personal insult, and for no reason that I can conceive except that it meant he would have to give up his writing. If the individual judgment of the Commission is to be reflected in the work of the Commission, as a whole, daily attendance on its duties is imperative. The members of the Commission were increased in salary more five years ago, with the express declaration in the law that each member should give his entire time to the duties of the office.

With rare exceptions, when a complaint comes to the Commission that does not involve the necessity of a public hearing, one of the members of the Commission handles it to a final conclusion, without ever submitting it to either of the other members of the Commission. I have handled the Commission's work in this manner, and the relief granted in the name of the Commission, when as a matter of fact neither member of the Commission knew anything of the matter. Mr. Boiffeuillet denies that his newspaper work interferes with his duties as a member of the Commission. Mr. Boiffeuillet denies that his newspaper work interferes with his duties as a member of the Commission. Mr. Boiffeuillet denies that his newspaper work interferes with his duties as a member of the Commission.

$500,000.00 this year, with the result that certain business in Tennessee, South Carolina and Alabama is now in a position to ship materials into Georgia where these states, because the rates between points in Georgia are higher, hence the Georgia producer is unable to compete. Since this additional $35,000.00 was put into the hands of the Georgia producer, Mr. Boiffeuillet seems to have a reckless disregard for the manner in which this money should be expended. It is true, as has been charged, that he voted for the payment of services for the inspection of the cleanliness and physical condition of passenger cars and depots at the price of $25.00 per day and expenses, for the one man doing the work, although this work should have been done by the members of the Commission until this year. Is it any wonder that the question is asked if this employment, sending this man over the various railroads in the State, was for political purposes? He also voted for the entire Commission, the Rate Expert, Secretary, and Special Attorney, to make a trip to Miami, Fla., utterly useless so far as the entire Commission is concerned, leaving the office in charge of the porter and stenographers, and the privilege thus voted for been exercised by all coming within his vote. It is true that he recently originated the idea of sending a member of the Commission on a junket to St. Paul, Minn., to attend a hearing on the question of eliminating the Pullman surcharge, where the Commission has no jurisdiction, yet, when this matter was under review by the recent Legislature, where constructive results were possible, he did not make one effort to do away with this surcharge.

We have on the Commission an unworkable, intolerable condition as a result of making public office a sideline. No newspaper man in Georgia or any citizen at all familiar with the work of the Commission, or any articles appearing in The Atlanta Journal, by Mr. Boiffeuillet, and believe that he is capable of doing any other work of a constructive nature, in which point of fact he is not doing. During the almost eight years that he has been on the Commission, I have never heard him utter one word or produce any evidence of work reflecting an intelligent consideration of any case where the subject matter dealt with intimate questions. There is no cause for any citizen's grievance on the part of Mr. Boiffeuillet towards me, except where his lack of attention to duty has interfered with the work of the Commission.

His reference to my personal affairs, in which he intimates that I am engaged in the practice of law and that I am a "stalking horse" for Bennett, I took part in the trial of the case by a young man from my home town being falsely imprisoned. Naturally, the boy came to me, which resulted in a damage suit, consuming five hours on four separate days in Atlanta; hanging one piece of property in winding up my mother's estate in 1923, together with one transaction for a widowed sister, covering the real estate I have made, beginning five years ago when the law first called for the entire time of the members of the Commission to act as attorneys in the case referred to, being forced by Mr. Boiffeuillet to publish this statement, yet, when you consider the fact that he has cowardly waited until the eleventh hour to launch this bitter personal attack on me, for no purpose other than to detract from the unanswered charges made by his opponent, I ask you, in all fairness, could I do any less? JAMES A. PERRY.

"I have worked and voted to place the burden of taxation on those most able to bear it. I opposed that part of Secretary Mellon's plan which reduced the taxes twice as much on large incomes as on small incomes. Two years ago Secretary Mellon opposed my amendment fixing a lower tax rate on earned incomes or incomes derived from wages, professional services, etc., than on incomes from bonds and interest. The Republicans at that time voted it down, but this year Secretary Mellon recommended my plan and it became a law. I favored lowering the taxes far more than Secretary Mellon, and I urged exempting married men whose incomes were less than $5,000. I also urged an amendment that would have relieved from payment of any income above 75 per cent of all the people of Georgia who now pay income tax. When the 10th amendment of the constitution was passed it was intended to collect taxes on large incomes only.

"A majority of all Georgia banks are small and under the original law could not be members and secure cheap interest rates of Federal Reserve System banks. I made the fight to change the law for these country banks and now they can get all advantages of large city banks.

"When gasoline was selling cheaper in northern states than in Georgia I introduced a measure, which passed the senate, preventing discrimination in price of gasoline.

"One of the first things I did after my election to the senate was to urge the changing of the southeastern head-quarters of the army, then at Charleston, S. C., to Atlanta, the logical place. This brings to Georgia more than a million dollars a year.

"I opposed the Eech-Cummins railroad bill which would have increased passenger fares and have worked for reduction of rates. I voted for a special reduction on farm products.

"A bill of mine recently passed the senate preventing wooden cars from being placed between steel passenger cars. It will save the lives of many passengers.

"An amendment of mine forced the president to name three democrats, one of whom is Judge Crisp, a Georgian, on the U. S. debt commission to collect amounts due us by European governments.

"The federal government spends more money in Georgia than in any other southern state, which helps our people. While I believe in economy in government expenditures and in keeping down taxes, I have done all I could to secure appropriations for worthy measures in my state. Respectfully yours,

"WILLIAM J. HARRIS.

"Former Senator Hoke Smith says: 'Everything considered, his energy, his committee assignments in the senate, and the influence he is capable of wielding, convinces me that Senator Harris should be retained.'

"Charles S. Barrett, of Georgia, national president of Farmers' union, says: 'Senator Harris has voted right and has worked very hard. He should win, and I hope he will win. The farmers greatly appreciate his work in their behalf.'

DENIES HARDWICK SUCCEEDED DEMOCRAT.

The headquarters of Senator W. J. Harris issued the following statement Monday afternoon in the campaign: 'Hardwick in speeches and letters charges that Senator Harris falsely claims that he held a republican job under this republican administration.' He writes: 'Mr. Harris knows my position was held by a democrat before I was appointed to the place, and it is a willful premeditated falsehood of that board by another democrat, Senator Thomas, of Colorado.'

'These appointments were given to men who served the cause of the republican party and the republican administration.'

HARDWICK CRITICIZED BY WATSON'S FRIEND.

Warrenton, Ga., September 8.—(Special.)—Major Charles E. McGreggor, life-long personal and political friend of Senator Thomas E. Watson, issued the following statement to day: 'I wish every true follower and admirer of that wonderful genius, Thomas E. Watson, would pause before he deposits his ballot on September 10 and ask himself the question, 'Which of these two aspirants for the United States senate proved himself true to Mr. Watson?'

'Mr. Hardwick owed his political prominence to Mr. Watson.

'Mr. Harris never received a political favor from Mr. Watson but on the contrary was elected United States senator over Hardwick without the cooperation of Mr. Watson.

'Watson was unpopular with the Wilson administration of which Hardwick was a member.

'Watson was ordered to Washington to stand trial for the severe lambasting he had given Wilson and the administration. Trial meant conviction and conviction meant death or Fort Leavenworth.

'The Georgia congressional delegation circulated a protest against trying Watson outside of Georgia. When the protest was presented for Senator Hardwick's signature he declined, saying, 'He wouldn't care if Watson was drawn and quartered and each chamber was tried in a separate state' or words to that effect.

'Mr. Harris was passing through Atlanta the night the senate announced Mr. Watson's summons to appear the following Friday was received. I had assisted Mr. Harris in his successful defeat of Mr. Hardwick for the senate. I can assure you that I had great influence with President Wilson and Mr. Watson needed his help. He immediately tendered his active assistance in the case of Watson.

'Watson was in Washington until his return to Washington which was done, and two days after his return Mr. Wilson was notified that he need not answer the summons to stand trial.

'What was Mr. Watson's opinion of Hardwick a few weeks before his untimely death? I found it in the telegram in answer to one I addressed to him asking if Hardwick had ever kept a promise made!

No! he has never kept a political promise made!

'Comrades, respect the memory of Georgia's greatest son by voting for Harris who stood by him when he stood alone. I can assure you that whom Mr. Watson denounced a few days before his death, as never having kept a political promise.

(Signed) "C. E. MCGREGOR."

Judge Howard's Record Before and After Going on the Bench; Summing Up of Reasons Why the Political Appointment of Judge Howard Should Not Be Ratified by Voters

A Superior Court judge has more power than any official in Georgia. He can stop by injunction the operations of government, state, county or city. He can appoint a receiver for any business institution in the community. All other offices to be voted on next Wednesday pale into insignificance in importance when compared with that of Superior Court judge.

In the past we have had in this county conservative, cautious, just judges, whose selections were free from the taint of political influence.

Lawyers do not assume to dictate to the community, but only to advise. The lawyers represent the public before the judges. The only interest of the lawyers is on behalf of their clients, who are the public and the voters. On account of intimate contact the lawyers know the functions of courts and the capacity of judges better than the average voter.

The overwhelming majority of the Atlanta Bar protested against the appointment of Judge Howard. Three hundred and thirty lawyers of the Atlanta Bar have publicly endorsed the candidacy of Judge McClelland. In his printed advertisements Judge Howard has had the endorsement of fourteen lawyers of the Atlanta Bar. Will the people cooperate with the lawyers in keeping the office of judge free from political taint and above suspicion, or will they ratify the appointment of Judge Howard, admitted to be given as a reward for political services in state politics?

Judge Howard, a citizen of Columbus, came to Atlanta in January, 1921. He had just served as manager of Hardwick's campaign for governor, and came to Atlanta to bask in the sunshine of executive favor and pick up such crumbs as he could.

Hardwick rewarded Howard by making him counsel for the Highway Commission. For some reason he fell out with Governor Hardwick, and in 1922 managed Governor Walker's campaign, in which Walker was successful. Governor Walker, as a reward for these political services, appointed this comparative stranger from Muscogee county to the newly-created judgeship in Atlanta in August, 1923, a little over two years after his removal to Atlanta.

Atlanta had numerous men, fully capable of filling this judgeship, who were identified with this city, but the protests of Atlanta were ignored.

Just after Judge Howard's appointment, Edgar Latham testified before the Bar committee, appointed to investigate the matter, that Howard had offered to have Latham appointed Solicitor General of the Atlanta Circuit in the event John A. Boykin was appointed judge, and Howard proposed to Latham to divide equally the fees of the office with him, based not on any division of the work of the office, but solely on Howard's political influence with the governor in getting Latham appointed. Latham declined to agree to Howard's proposal.

The Bar Association committee appointed to investigate, after hearing the evidence, found that Judge Howard's conduct was "improper, illegal, corrupt and contrary to public policy," and "that it is inconsistent with the proper administration of justice that Judge Howard should continue to hold office as Judge of the Superior Court." This committee's finding was ratified and adopted by the practically unanimous vote of the lawyers of Atlanta in a public meeting at the court house.

The grand jury for July term, 1923, took action upon Judge Howard's appointment, and, in a special presentment, said that the Latham charges "have made a very painful impression on this grand jury," and that "it is the sense of this grand jury that it would be most unfortunate for him (Judge Howard) to perform any duties of a judge of the Superior Court until the charges are sustained or disproved before a legally constituted authority."

No one can say, as Judge Howard complains, that this is a mud-slinging campaign. We would be worse than false to the voters if we pussyfooted in as important a matter as this. It would be criminal to conceal the unfitness of any man who aspires to this high judgeship. As the public elect the judges they must know the facts.

We know of no parallel for the appointment to this important office of this Columbus politician as a reward for political services only, except the carpet-bag appointments made by the Federal government in reconstruction days, when scoundwags and corruptionists from abroad were placed in all offices from governor down, in the chaos which followed the Civil War.

The inevitable consequence of a political appointment, such as this, will show itself in the administration of the law by such a judge upon the bench. The same game of politics which lifted the incumbent to the bench is likely to be played by the incumbent after he gets upon the bench.

The press has contained accounts of how Paul Johns, a master criminal, indicted in seven cases for receiving stolen goods and making and selling liquor, was found guilty by jury and sentenced to imprisonment of four to five years. Judge Howard set aside the verdict, and this master criminal got out with a fine of $1,000.00. HE WAS REPRESENTED BY PAUL CARPENTER, ONE OF JUDGE HOWARD'S CHIEF SUPPORTERS. THE OTHER INDICTED CRIMINALS WERE REPRESENTED BY BRACKETT & TINDALL, ALSO STRONG PUBLIC SUPPORTERS OF JUDGE HOWARD.

The press also contained accounts of the Tighe case, in which Judge Howard recommended a parole for Tighe, who was a notorious criminal and had been frequently convicted. He had been sentenced to ten months on a liquor charge in Judge Calhoun's court, but neither Judge Calhoun nor the Criminal Court solicitor recommended pardon. The Prison Commission refused to recommend a pardon or parole, but Judge Howard, although not officially connected with the case, having asked for a parole, the governor granted the parole, and in his order granting it, stated, among other things, that "a Judge of the Superior Court" had recommended the pardon.

This case was represented by Swift Tyler, WHO IS IN MR. PAUL CARPENTER'S OFFICE.

It seems that Paul Carpenter's representation was most potent to get Judge Howard's recommendation (although the case was not in Judge Howard's court), and Judge Howard's recommendation was most potent to get the governor's order of release.

Judge L. F. McClelland, who is a candidate for the judgeship, has been on the bench of the Municipal Court for ten years, and before that time had practiced law in Atlanta for fifteen years. He has resided in this community for thirty-five years. There is not a stain upon his record, and that he is qualified for the position is shown by the overwhelming endorsement of the Atlanta Bar, with whom he will come in contact if elected.

MCCLELLAND CAMPAIGN COMMITTEE

Butler Places Davis Third But Sees New Tide Coming

Republican Official Declares New Swing Toward Davis Due Before November.

Chicago, September 8.—William M. Butler, chairman of the republican national committee, returned to national headquarters here today, conferred with his aides and a number of party leaders and then issued a statement declaring:

"The one fact plain to all observers of this campaign is that John W. Davis, the democratic presidential nominee, has been eliminated from the contest."

"Mr. Davis ranks third the country over almost without exception," the statement continued. "This is an extraordinary state of affairs for a period of two months before election. Chairman Clem Shaver in Washington has said that there is a half truth in this statement and he will not doubt bend his every energy to correct it."

"It is impossible that Mr. Davis could grow much weaker, therefore I expect that he will have a new wave by the first of October. That, however, will come the natural return to his own party of people who temporarily are following the socialist third party ticket. By that time they will have a clearer vision of where they are being led and the identity of the persons and forces leading them."

"The official leaders of the socialist party have already sensed this situation. We have been advised in New York that democratic strategy now calls for the abandonment of the northwestern and the east coast states and the intensifying of the campaign in the east in the hope of creating a combination of the solid south and eastern states electoral votes."

"But even their most optimistic supporters do not attempt to claim New York or New Jersey, and when Vance McCormick as a stalwart attempted to talk hopelessly of Pennsylvania as being won from republicans, the democratic papers allowed he was carrying the joke too far."

"Mr. Davis has lost because he failed to strike to the heart of the matter. He has lost because he has lost because of lack of skill or campaign management. He has not been confounded by any strategy which I or my associates have developed. The people have of themselves decided that he is not the man. His speeches gracefully phrased, have been after all, messages only of promise and the people have decided that the country needs a plain common sense achievement of President Coolidge. He has lost because the odds were too great for him to overcome."

"Too Many Issues." "It is not to be denied that he has a variety of issues. New ones have developed almost daily. He has tried the tariff, farm relief, honesty in government and a host of others, on the people. His variety of issues has been his undoing."

"I have heard some talk that this campaign is too quiet. It is a quiet campaign and I venture to say that it will be so until the end."

LEWIS RENAMED TO TARIFF BODY

Washington, September 8.—A long list of callers for discussion of government and political questions today kept President Coolidge busy at his desk and late in the afternoon he announced the reappointment of David J. Lewis, of Maryland, democratic member of the tariff commission.

Considerable interest had been shown in view of the split on the commission over the sugar duty. Mr. Lewis is understood to have been one of those signing the majority report of the commission favoring a reduction in the sugar duty. Final action on the sugar report is up to the president, but in view of the complicated situation he is said to have asked for further data from the commission and other government agencies.

Reports on the political situation were presented to Mr. Coolidge by Senator Moses, chairman of the senate republican campaign committee. Senator Sterling of South Dakota, and Rhinelander Waldo, former police commissioner of New York, and A. M. Munsey, newspaper publisher, was a luncheon guest at the white house.

Senator Moses, who has just returned from national committee headquarters in Chicago, advised that the campaign attack be centered on Senator La Follette, independent candidate.

Is Recess Appointment. Mr. Coolidge expects to remain close to his desk for the next two weeks prior to his address before the Holy Name Society convention here. Mr. Lewis' appointment to the tariff commission is his second congressional only, but it is understood the president plans to nominate him for the twelve-year term when the senate reconvenes. He has been aligned with Vice Chairman Culbertson and Commissioner Cogan, a republican, in a number of controversies with the commission, while commissioners Burgess, republican, and Glassie, democrat, have stood with Chairman Marvin. Commissioner Glassie's term, the next to expire, continues until 1926.

Convict to Face Court for Killing Fellow Prisoner. Thomasville, Ga., September 8.—Lewis McCloud, negro convict on the chain gang, is charged with the killing of Andrew Sloan, another convict, at convict camp No. 1. The two men are said to have engaged in a quarrel, when Sloan hit McCloud on the head with a long stick. McCloud then struck Sloan with a wagon shaft, according to witnesses present. Sloan died some time after the crime was committed. The coroner's jury after an examination of the witnesses, recommended that McCloud be held for manslaughter.

Defective Ammunition Is Blamed for Death of Savannah Guard. Savannah, Ga., September 8.—(Special.)—In a report filed with Brigadier General A. J. Bowley, in command at Fort Bragg, N. C., where the 11th regiment field artillery, national guard of Georgia, were in camp, today Colonel Joseph H. Thompson, president of the board named to inquire to the cause of the recent death of Private Carl King, Savannah, declared that faulty or defective ammunition caused the untimely explosion which killed the young guardsman. This is the first accident of its kind among many thousands of loads used at the guard camps.

JAMES C. ARNALL, 48, DIES AT SENOIA HOME. Senoia, Ga., September 8.—(Special.)—James C. Arnall, 48, died here suddenly at his home this morning. He had not been in the best of health for several days.

Mr. Arnall was a prominent farmer and warehouseman of Senoia, and had lived here for many years. He is survived by his widow, a daughter, Miss Carrie Bell Arnall, of Atlanta; two sons, J. C. and William Arnall, of Senoia, two brothers, and three sisters.

WALKER PLANTERS COMPLETE SURVEY OF FARM LANDS

Lafayette, Ga., September 8.—(Special.)—The annual Walker county farmers' tour has been held and the agricultural outlook is very encouraging, according to G. P. Saye, county agent, who today gave a survey of the findings. The unusually successful year enjoyed by farmers in the county is attributed to the plan of diversification of crops, Mr. Saye said, together with efficient systems of farm management being practiced here.

The Walker tour is unique in that farmers do not go to other sections, but visit farms in the county to see the progress made, and to change ideas. Every farmer in the county was invited, and visits were made to a large number of the leading plantations.

Dinner was served at the farm of Congressman Gordon Lee, who owns one of the largest plantations in this section.

A study of the systems of management was made at all farms visited and it was found that a large number are keeping accurate records of the cost of operation.

NAVIGATION OF COOSA PLANNED BY BIG DAM. Constitution Bureau. Masonic Temple Annex, Phone 1069.

Rome, Ga., September 8.—(Special.)—Rome and all the section embraced in northwest Georgia and northeast Alabama are interested in the project of navigation on the Coosa river from Rome to the Gulf of Mexico.

A hearing for the purpose of filing objections, if any, to the project of the Peoples Hydro-Electric Power company, of Birmingham, to erect a large power plant and dam at Lock Two on the Coosa is to be held in Birmingham the latter part of September.

The company made application to the federal power commission in Washington to erect the plant, and that body has published notice in Alabama that a hearing of objections will be held. The dam planned to be erected will raise the river level at Gadsden six feet and will take the greatest step yet in the proposed navigation on the Coosa from Rome to the Gulf.

Rome commissioners are expected to adopt a resolution favoring the proposition of the company, at the next meeting.

If the river is opened below Gadsden, allowing navigation below that point, it will mean cheaper freight rates, better shipping facilities from Rome and will open local markets to the world through Mobile and New Orleans.

According to information received at Rome, the only thing that lies in the way of the navigation to the Gulf from Rome will be the filing of objections of the application of the power company.

The company has been identified with plans for the development of water power and navigation on the Coosa river for many years. Roswell H. Cobb, of Birmingham, is president of the concern, and Lee J. Langley, Rome, and Armstrong Corey, of Birmingham, attorneys, represent the concern.

Rome Women Boost Davis. Rome, Ga., September 8.—(Special.)—The Women's Democratic club held a meeting in the recorder's court room at the municipal building Saturday afternoon. Mrs. S. F. Magruder presided.

A motion to make the Woman's Democratic club a Woman's Democratic Davis-Bryan club was passed. Meetings will be held each Saturday until the November election.

Darlington Opens Today. Rome, Ga., September 8.—(Special.)—Dr. Arthur Sloan will be the opening day speaker at Darlington school tomorrow morning, when the school begins its 21st year. Dr. Sloan is a member of the Shorter faculty.

Floyd Votes To Attend. Rome, Ga., September 8.—(Special.)—Members of the Floyd county camp, Confederate veterans, are planning to attend the annual reunion to be held at Thomasville, October 8 and 9.

Railroads will give the usual rate of one fare for the round trip, and it is expected that a large number will attend.

Committees Begin Work On Disarmament Program

Various Topics for Discussion and Investigation Are Divided Among Three Subcommittees.

Geneva, September 8.—Europe has seized the leadership in the march toward world peace, and the disarmament commission of the league of nations has begun its labors to define a program for world disarmament. These labors include a general discussion of the allied questions of disarmament and national security.

The commission adopted an agenda in its first session and distributed the various topics which must be considered among three subcommittees. It then proceeded with the general discussion in an effort to give the president a feeling, which exists among the chiefs of the major European countries, a permanency that will not be shaken at the first rumble of international friction.

During the general discussion of disarmament, international security and disarmament, all the participating governments will have an opportunity to express their views, on those subjects before the commission attempts to put into effect the program outlined at Geneva by Premier Herriot and MacDonald.

Clicks in the league secretariat are busy compiling an outline of all the recently submitted proposals, including the mutual guarantee pact sponsored by the league, the American plan for peace, put forward by Professor James T. Shotwell, and Sir James Allen's New Zealand plan. Consideration of this data will be given to the commissioners, as it will include the replies received from the various governments relative to participation in the league's guarantee pact. These governmental observations are a clear enough exposition of what must be avoided in framing such an international peace agreement.

The personnel of the disarmament commission is impressive, as it includes leaders in thought and government from a dozen countries. Any decisions reached by these men will be of some consequence and will command the respectful attention of peoples as well as governments.

Discussion of some sort of a mutual assistance agreement, which would be operative in the event of attack, will take place before the entire commission, as will discussion of the related subject of regional agreements. Other topics have been distributed among three subcommittees as follows:

1. Private manufacture of war materials and international traffic there-in.

2. Chemical warfare and military questions.

3. Naval disarmament.

As soon as this distribution of subjects had been completed, the entire commission began its general discussion toward ultimate agreement upon a procedure which will permit the

J. D. Price Thanks Friends For Loyal Support That Assures His Overwhelming Re-Election

On the eve of the democratic primary I take this means of thanking my friends throughout the state for their cordial assurance of support, feeling certain that my election is assured by their friendship and loyalty.

Although my opponent has seen fit to make unfounded, false, and scurrilous statements about me, both verbally and through the newspapers, I have felt that it would be an imposition upon the voters to indulge in a newspaper controversy with him and have endeavored to conduct my campaign on a higher plane, avoiding all personalities.

It has sometimes been hard to stand by, after reading the "inspired" statements that my opponent has made about me, without answering them in the same way, but, having felt all along that my candidacy is safe in the hands of loyal and true Georgians, who disapprove of a campaign such as has been waged against me, I know that the votes of the people will write my vindication, if it is needed.

Again thanking you and with assurances that as a member of the Georgia Public Service Commission I will administer the office faithfully and conscientiously in the future as I have in the past,

Respectfully,
J. D. PRICE.

Of the 50,000 children who enrolled in Atlanta's schools, there is a big per cent that will be handicapped in their studies by imperfect and defective vision. And weak, tired eyes are greatly responsible for discouraged pupils and failures. THE importance of caring for the eyes and teeth of school children has been emphasized here and in 1,000 other places within a year. Usually you are told that it is no part of the taxpayer's duty to care for children's eyes and teeth of other men's children. But if taxpayers teach the children, why not protect their health?

HERE is a better argument for the taxpayers. Here it is shown that defective eyesight adds $120,000,000 a year to the cost of public school education. If spending on or even fifty millions a year on the children's eyes would cut $10,000,000 from annual taxes, the taxpayers would not object.

COMMISSIONER PRICE CLOSING HIS CAMPAIGN

J. D. Price, candidate for reelection as a member of the Georgia public service commission, closed his campaign last night with the following statement:

"The campaign is virtually at an end and I could not ask for the situation to be better so far as I am concerned."

"I am confident that after Wednesday's votes are counted, my opponent will be very much surprised at the small number of counties he has carried."

"My friends all over the state are sending me wonderfully encouraging news, and I am sure of a sweeping victory."

"I am, therefore, sending them just this word of encouragement in conclusion for I want them to know that I appreciate their friendly efforts in my behalf."

RECORD ATTENDANCE AT HOLMES INSTITUTE

Holmes Institute opened Monday morning with the largest attendance in the history of the school. All departments are now in operation with competent instructors in charge.

Rev. R. R. Holmes, president, in delivering the opening address, said that the aim of the school is to give every boy and girl an opportunity of receiving a useful education which will fit them for their duties of life, so that they may aid in development of the south.

A large number of colored women have enrolled in the free cooking school.

Grading Work To Begin Today On New Units of Lupton Hall

A large force of workmen will be put to work at Oglethorpe university this morning grading for the immediate construction of two new units to Lupton Hall, the new building which was given to Oglethorpe by Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Lupton, of Chattanooga, Tenn. Present plans, according to Dr. Thorne Jacobs, president of Oglethorpe, are to have the buildings ready for use by next spring.

The construction work will be under the supervision of J. W. Jenkins. The plans for the Lupton Hall additions were drawn by the firm of Morgan & Dillon and were approved by Mr. and Mrs. Lupton. The plans call for the building being constructed on the same lines as the first unit of Lupton Hall. They will be of Georgian style. The addition to Lupton Hall will bring the total value of that building to $150,000.

A basketball court, and modern swimming pool will occupy all of the basement space, and Dr. Jacobs declared Monday that work on that section will be rushed to completion by the first of January. The swimming pool will not be put into use at that time, but the basketball court will allow the Petrels to have their first varsity basketball team.

Schools To Close Early For Defense Day Parade

Professor Willis Sutton, superintendent of the city schools, has given positive assurance that all city schools will be closed at 12 o'clock noon on Friday, so that all school children may witness the parade and take part in the exercises of National Defense Day.

The vital importance of preparedness both in school, civic and national life, was stressed by Professor Sutton, who has signified his hearty approval of the country-wide celebration by agreeing to close all schools at that hour.

Parade Hour Changed.
The hour of the parade which has been changed from 2 o'clock to 3:30 o'clock, the change having been made after many requests came in from the large industries and business institutions of the city, in which it was stressed that it was the desire of all the business interests of Atlanta that all employees take part in the celebration and march in the parade, but that it would be impossible for them to do so if the parade was scheduled to begin at 2 o'clock.

Indications point to the largest and most impressive patriotic celebration the city has ever known. Preparations are being made for decorating floats, along the line of march, and it is believed that all business houses as well as private homes, will go the limit on decorating, and of displaying the American flag from every available point of vantage.

National Guard Officers.
Practically all details have been worked out for participation of the "Infantry," Georgia National Guard, in National Defense Day ceremonies to be held here Friday, September 12. At the regular weekly drill period Monday night, officers of "Atlanta's own" regiment were given final instructions.

Lieutenant Colonel Eugene Oberdorfer, executive officer of the regiment, will be in command, Colonel Charles H. Cox, present adjutant general of the state, is commanding officer of the regiment, but will act as marshal of ceremonies during the day.

Wahletka Sees Imprisonment For Slayers of Franks Boy

Princess Wahletka, internationally famed seeress who is appearing at Loew's Grand theater this week and who will answer questions of Atlantans has picked from among the three thousand questions received in the last few days one which is uppermost in the minds of the readers of The Constitution—"What will be the fate of Leopold and Loeb?"

Princess Wahletka believes Judge Caverly will give them a prison sentence and in answer to a question from someone in Atlanta whose initials are S. L., she gives the following answer: "Leopold and Loeb will know their fate this week. They are mentally unbalanced. Sentence will be imprisonment."

Princess Wahletka predicted the death of President Harding; she foretold the great Japanese earthquake and the nomination of John W. Davis. Is Wahletka right when she says Leopold and Loeb will receive a prison sentence at the hands of Judge Caverly?

Princess Wahletka spent a busy morning at the Biltmore hotel Monday where she and her secretaries went through the thousands of questions that had been received previous to arrival in Atlanta. From the avalanche of letters she picked at random ten, and the Leopold and Loeb question was the first.

The Ten Answers.
The answers to the first ten questions are printed below:

Y. I.—Leopold and Loeb will know their fate this week. They are mentally unbalanced. Sentence will be imprisonment.

F. O.—Hold your property. It would be foolish to sacrifice it. There is a little slump at present, but after November things will take a turn for the better.

A. G.—Yes, your husband will return. You are to blame for his going. When he does return I would not allow any of my own people to live with me to stir up discord. You will find it much better to take a small house or apartment and live alone.

B. G. L.—You have not lost in Atlanta. The money will come back to you. You are a little impatient. The ideas you have are good, but, takes time to plant properly. They will work out to your advantage and do much good for those in whom you are interested. I get you on a psychic plane.

P. H.—I think you are foolish to think of a divorce. You owe it to your children to stick. It is to a great extent your fault that they are not found more attractive. No man likes constant nagging. Just trust him and let him know that you do and he will come around all right.

D. O.—There is no reason why you should not be a success in the business world. You write a splendid letter and have a firm hand. It seems to me that you are out with the people who know that he is a cheat. The only way for him to be happy is to be honest and he will then enjoy a clean conscience. You had better have placed himself in a position that his fellow-workers know of his dishonesty. Insist that he make restitution.

D. R.—Of course he loves you. But, do you love him? That is the question. I am afraid it was being in love with love and not with the man that is the thing that worries you.

S. H.—Does my husband love me? Of course he does. He is too busy trying to make a good living for you and the children to think of romantic love making. Have he not demonstrated his thought of you by making many sacrifices? Just do not question his love. Believe in him.

L. J. K.—By all means, show your daughter to take up fancy dancing. The child evidently has a natural bent in that direction. It will develop her. It gives poise and a certain distinction of manner. Besides it is a vocation that pays well.

Each day this week Princess Wahletka will answer the questions that come through the columns of The Atlanta Constitution, increasing the number to 15 on the last day, these 15 being questions from 15 cities and "owns throughout the state."

It is not too late to send in a question to Princess Wahletka. Just address it to her in care of Loew's Grand theater. Give the correct name and address at the bottom of the question. However, when they are answered only the initials will be used so that no embarrassment will be caused.

Princess Wahletka will be in Atlanta during the entire week and will be seen at each performance at Loew's Grand theater as the headline attraction of the vaudeville bill.

McClelland Victory In Primary Predicted

Headquarters of Judge L. F. McClelland Monday night issued the following closing campaign statement:

"Indications from all parts of the county point to an overwhelming victory by Judge McClelland. If Judge Howard carries a single precinct in the county or a single ward in the city it will be very surprising. Judge McClelland's headquarters are deluged with letters, communications, and visits from enthusiastic supporters in all walks of life, and in every section of the city and county."

"The campaign, which has been conducted for a clean judiciary, free from the taint of politics, is bearing fruit."

"The people are sound at heart, and had but to know the facts in order to repudiate the entrance of politics into the courts, and to show their disfavor of appointing a politician from a distant city as a reward for political services rendered in a state campaign."

"It was necessary in this campaign to tell the people the facts. The judges are elected by the people, and the people must know the records of those for whom they vote. It would be unjust to the people to withhold facts which should be known by the people. The man to be elected to the bench of Judge Howard's political appointment is admitted. The fact that he is a corrupt trader with a member of the Atlanta bar, who was about to be appointed solicitor general, was proved before a committee of the bar association, and was sustained by an almost unanimous vote of the law society of Atlanta at the court house, and was afterwards taken up by the grand jury of the county, who declared it came before the board of education to continue on the bench."

"Judge Howard's record since he has been on the bench has been exposed in several illustrative cases, which have been placed before the public in the newspapers. The records in these cases speak for themselves, and it is submitted that neither he nor anyone else would dare go on the bench, nor after being on the bench has Judge Howard's record been one of which the public can be proud."

"Judge McClelland has lived in this community for 35 years. He practiced law in Atlanta 15 years, and after that he was placed upon the municipal court bench as judge, and has served as judge 10 years. His record is spotless. That he has the ability to serve is shown by those who know, and is being practically unanimously endorsed of by the lawyers who practice in the superior court."

2 ZONING BATTLES WON BY CITIZENS OF SEVENTH WARD

Residents of the seventh ward won two stiff battles before the city planning commission Monday afternoon, one in obtaining disapproval of a petition to permit a business development on the triangle bounded by Matthews, Queen, White and Lawton streets, opposite the Joe Brown, Junior High school, and the other in securing disapproval of a petition for a zoning change to permit establishment of a filling station at the corner of Cascade avenue and Beecher street.

A warm debate between Councilman Wiley Moore and Councilman W. C. Jenkins, both of the seventh ward, preceded the vote on the Cascade-Beecher petition. Councilman Moore led the opposition against the change and won.

KELLER AND EARL LEAD IN POINTS ON FORSYTH BILL

Vaudeville's main recommendation, just like the dictionary, is that the subject changes frequently. If you don't like one type of entertainment you can keep your eyes shut until the next number comes.

At the Forsyth Monday night viewing the bill for the first half of the week, there really wasn't one out of all five acts which didn't entertain. The degree, of course, varied. Scoring on a scale of 100 points, personally I'd put it about like this:

30 Points—Keller and Earl. A man and a girl in a nonsense act. Funny, snappy and breezy. Girl easy to look at.

20 Points—Minstrel Memories. Seven burnt-cork performers. Three somewhat better harmonizers, two excellent dancers and two not-so-bad end men.

15 Points—Sheen and Phillips. A couple of youths in a singing and talking act. A nut act that was considerably different—for the better—for the usual run of such offerings.

15 Points—Battina and Barrette. Man and woman with voices not quite good enough for anything higher than the three-day. A line of comedy that is not clear enough to get over as well as it might.

10 Points—Yvonne Verlaque and company. Shapely girl who combines vocalisms, violinists, aerobatics and spotlight posing. Not bad, but nothing to write home about.

5 Points—The news and Felix Cat pictures.

Total, 100 points—What more can you expect for your money?

SCHOOL OFFICES MAY BE REMOVED FROM CITY HALL

Removal of all school department offices from City Hall to the new Street school, election of additional teachers to care for unexpectedly large enrollment in elementary schools and in the negro high school, and a request upon citizens to give the present city stockade building into control of the board were matters of general interest scheduled Monday at the Kimball house breakfast.

Superintendent Willis A. Sutton, backed by Commissioner W. C. State and others, will recommend that the school department vacate city hall entirely and establish new headquarters under a single roof nearly two miles away from other department headquarters of the city government. Some opposition is expected to develop.

A report was current Monday that a movement would be launched to take away from the purchasing committee some of the powers which were voted to it at a special meeting of the board last month, which included authority to make purchases at the discretion of any three of the five members without approval of the full board. Some criticism of the committee developed when as its first official action after winning its new powers, it awarded a large desk contract to the highest bidder by a bare majority vote.

MACCABEES GIVE FIRST OF WEEKLY DANCES TONIGHT

The first of a series of weekly dances under auspices of the board of control of Maccabee temple will be held tonight at the temple, 2712 Peachtree street. Regularly each week during the winter months a social program will be presented, with dancing as a feature. It is stated.

Proceeds of these weekly entertainments will be devoted to defraying expenses of Atlanta's entertainment program for several thousand Maccabees of western states who are scheduled to stop here for two days in July of next year, en route to the national convention in Washington. Several thousand dollars will be spent in this program, local officials assert, and the motorcade of Maccabees will bring one of the greatest crowds to this city in many years, it is claimed.

GOOD WILL TOURISTS GIVEN BIG RECEPTIONS

Good will tourists of the Atlanta Junior Chamber of Commerce, who left last Friday to visit Augusta, Columbia and Charleston, Monday reported splendid receptions in each of the cities visited.

The party, under the leadership of John M. Stanton, Jr., chairman of extension work of the Junior Chamber, made the trip for the purpose of creating good will among these neighboring cities and organizing the young men into junior chambers.

The party arrived in Augusta in time for luncheon Friday, being met by representatives of the Chamber of Commerce. A conference was held concerning a junior chamber and it is expected that an organization will be perfected there within the next few weeks.

The party went from Augusta to Columbia, where it was met by a reception committee from the Columbia Chamber of Commerce and escorted to the Jefferson hotel. A banquet was tendered the visitors and great interest in the proposed junior organization in that city was manifested.

The tourists reached Charleston Saturday at noon, having been met by a delegation of 50 members of the Charleston board of trade, 25 miles outside the city and escorted to Fort Sumpter hotel, where a luncheon had been arranged. Unusual interest was displayed by the Charlestonians who had arranged an elaborate program of entertainment, including a golf match, recreation at the beach, and a banquet at the Francis Marion hotel Saturday night.

The city is reorganizing its Junior board of trade and at an early date will send a delegation to Atlanta to study the organization and operation of the junior chamber here.

The party returned to Atlanta Sunday afternoon.

GERMANY DELAYS WAR GUILT NOTE

Berlin, September 8.—Retreating before warnings from the allies that the world is not prepared to hear a disavowal of war guilt from Germany, the German cabinet has postponed the dispatch of the "Guilt Lie Note," which it had promised to send to the allies Monday, and is now in hot water at home.

For at least another week Germany, however, will bear the burdensome charge placed upon her by the Versailles treaty when it found "guilty of starting the world war." The cabinet has announced that next week, when Chancellor Marx and Foreign Minister Stresemann have returned to the capital, the form and time of dispatch of the note will be discussed.

Nationalist leaders, who forced the government to agree to an official disavowal of war guilt, are furious at the delay.

But the government is not anxious to offend the allies and it is probable that the present postponement is the first of many that will delay the delivery of the note among the chancelleries of Europe until the day Germany becomes a member of the league of nations.

The nationalist newspapers bitterly reproach the government for what they term its dodging of responsibility in the matter of the note.

In an editorial attack upon the government, the Lokal Anzeiger inquires in effect:

"What harm can the dispatch of the note do to Germany? Does anyone think that the entente would cancel the Dawes plan as a result of such a note?"

while far from crystallized seems to be almost equally divided between Coolidge, Davis and La Follette. The farmers of the state are largely republican and the laboring element mostly democratic. Both are lining up against Coolidge.

Davis Men Hopeful.
As a result of this situation, democratic leaders are counting on both parties whittling away from the La Follette strength. And when the farmers and workers realize that La Follette has little chance of election and giving them the desired relief and legislation, democratic leaders believe they will turn to Davis to defeat Coolidge.

Both farmer and labor leaders of the state are said to be for Davis. The democratic candidates will meet these leaders on Thursday before his Denver speech on western problems and leaders hope they will be able to swing a considerable portion of the rank and file to the democratic ticket.

HARTSFIELD ENDS RACE WITH RALLY OF "HOME FOLKS"

Alderman W. B. Hartsfield closed his campaign for one of the three Fulton county places in the general assembly with a rousing "Hartsfield rally," sponsored by his supporters in his home ward, at the Milton Avenue school Monday night.

The candidate reviewed his record during two years as the Third ward member of the aldermanic board, during which he has served as chairman of the ordinance, tax and other important committees, as vice chairman of the streets committee and as a member of all important committees in the city legislative body. He was elected provisional mayor pro tem. in January.

At the close of the speech, the ladies of the Milton Avenue community presented the alderman with a huge cake as a token of appreciation and support. Homer Chatham presided.

Alderman Claud E. Buchanan, candidate for treasurer; Solicitor General John Boykin, candidate for reelection; Miss Bessie Kempton, candidate for reelection as Fulton representative, and Eugene Dicker, candidate for the assembly, spoke several of the candidates, including Alderman Hartsfield and Miss Kempton, went from the Milton Avenue rally to the McClelland rally at Howell park.

HOUSE ELECTION FEARED BY CHIEFS

to be stronger than they once expected. And that he is going to carry several states.

Western Vote Is Critical.
From a democratic source, there is evidence equally convincing, even though indirect, of the democratic belief that La Follette is going to be very strong in the northwest. Frank Kent, writing from Chicago in The Baltimore Sun, of last Thursday, said: "Except in a few states the presidential fight west of the Mississippi is between Coolidge and La Follette. At this time the democrats have no chance in California, Washington, Oregon, Michigan, Montana, Idaho, North and South Dakota, Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Montana and Utah. In all these states, if the election were held today, Mr. Davis would run a poor third."

Mr. Kent does not state this, and the democrats who share his view do not regard this, as disadvantageous, from the democratic point of view. They say that practically all these states are normally republican, that the democrats could hardly carry them under any circumstances, and that if Mr. La Follette can carry several of them he will, to that extent, be helping the democrats by doing what the democrats themselves could hardly hope to do.

Is Menace to Coolidge.
As Mr. Kent puts it, from a democratic point of view, "Clearly this situation is a Coolidge acre than a Davis menace." At the end Mr. Kent deduces that for the democrats the moral is that their only chance is to combine south with east giving La Follette their blessing and best wishes in the west.

In "the east," Mr. Kent would undoubtedly include Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and a host of others which the democrats should fight hard. Just as Colonel Harvey says that Coolidge is the only candidate who can keep the election from going into the hands of Mr. Davis, Mr. Kent says that the only one, Mr. Kent concludes with "it cannot be done with a republican."

Let Colonel Harvey's republican bias, and Mr. Kent's democratic bias, and the opinion upon which both agree is that La Follette is strong in the northwest. That assumption underlies the strategy of both parties today.

If this assumption is correct it has some bearing on the question how far the Maine election this week can be taken as a barometer. The one thing the Maine election cannot show is La Follette's strength, for La Follette has less strength in Maine than in almost any other state. And yet, the strength of La Follette in the west and northwest, about which the Maine voting tells nothing, is believed at this moment by leaders of both parties, to be a decisive factor, certainly it is decisive on the question whether the election is to go into the hands of

BANK OF RICHFIELD AND BRANCH CLOSED

Albany, N. Y., September 8.—The People's Bank and Trust company, of Richfield, and a branch of the bank at New London, failed to open their doors today following examination of the bank's books on Saturday by the state bank examiner. Officials said depositors would be paid in full.

The failure of the People's National bank, of Salisbury, several months ago and shrinkage of profits caused the closing, was said to have been made for the protection of depositors. Mrs. Belle Ritchie is president of the bank and W. H. White, cashier. The June report of the bank showed $102,000 of resources and $50,000 of deposits.

'SUNSET LIMITED' TRAIN IS WRECKED

Phoenix, Ariz., September 8.—Southern Pacific passenger train No. 102, eastbound, was wrecked tonight near Maricopa, Ariz., according to meager details received in railroad circles here. The locomotive overturned and several coaches were derailed, according to reports which did not reveal whether any passengers were injured.

The wrecked train is the Sunset Limited. A wrecking train with a t-12 crew will leave here for the scene of the wreck at 12:30 p. m. Railroad officials attempted to communicate by wire with Maricopa to determine whether medical assistance was needed.

TO WITHDRAW TROOPS FROM HERRIN TODAY

Herrin, Illinois, September 8.—Capt. Harold M. Bigelow, in charge of the militia sent here a week ago Saturday, to restore order following a clash between Ku Klux Klansmen and their opponents, in which six men were killed, announced this noon that the detachment of troops would leave here tomorrow.

The decision was reached, Captain Bigelow said after a talk with Adjutant-General Carlos T. Black, of the Illinois national guards, and it was agreed that the troops were no longer needed.

REMOVAL OF TROOPS PROTESTED BY SHERIFF

Marion, Ill., September 8.—Vigorous protest against the proposed removal of troops from the town of Herrin was made this afternoon by Acting Sheriff Randall Parks in a telegram sent to Adjutant-General Carlos T. Black, of the Illinois national guards, and it was agreed that the troops would be withdrawn tomorrow.

time as the Bryson girl, was arrested at her father's home where she went at about daybreak Sunday morning. She also was injured, having suffered a bruised leg and cuts and bruises about her body when the rope broke as she was slipping down it to freedom.

Woman Held on Suspicion.
Another development in the case came Monday with arrest of Mrs. Lewis, 39, of 175 Spring street, who is held by police on suspicion of implication in the jail delivery of the two girls. Mrs. Lewis denied she aided in the escape, and that she knew anything of it, her story being substantiated by Miss Bryson after the latter's arrest. Mrs. Lewis said, "I may have broken a heart two, but I never did break any steel bars, and never helped anyone else to."

Miss Bryson was held for State Probation Officer C. A. Madson after having been arrested on a suspended charge of shoplifting, on which she had been found guilty about two years ago. She must now face the added charge of jail breaking.

Mrs. Auten is held by police at the request of her father, who is making arrangements to send her to boarding school.

Conflicting stories of their escape, according to police, were told by the girls. "I had slid down the rope to the ground," said the Bryson girl, "and was waiting for Mrs. Auten, but she lost her balance and fell on top of me. That's just how I got hurt."

MAN WHO THREATENED WALES IS ARRESTED

Williamstown, N. Y., September 8.—Marcus J. Geroy was arrested in his home here today charged with sending the Prince of Wales an alleged threatening letter last Thursday. Sheriff Vincent, who made the arrest, said Geroy admitted writing the letter.

The sheriff added that Geroy denied threatening to kill the royal visitor, but said he "had no use for the British empire and would just as soon see it wiped out."

BORAH DECLINES TO NAME HIS MAN

Chicago, September 8.—Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, has not issued any "premature statement" as to whom he will support in the presidential campaign.

Interrupted in preparations for a trip back home to take care of a few political fences of his own, the Idaho senator took time Monday to make two statements.

"I haven't issued any premature statements as to who I will support," and "I am still standing by my decision announced when I came here last week to establish headquarters of the senatorial campaign fund investigating committee, to remain a neutral in the race."

The senator refused to amplify these statements.

The occasion was a statement given out by William B. Butler, national republican chairman, earlier in the day that Borah had "indicated" his willingness to support the Coolidge-Dawes ticket.

Butler, who had just returned from New York, said he had conferred with Borah on the subject earlier in the day.

REPUBLICANS WIN MAINE ELECTION

paing, the democrats asserted that Brewster represented the Klan. Brewster, who had previously denied that he had sought Klan support, made no reference to the Klan in his election campaign and his speeches dealt chiefly with state issues but republican speakers sent into the state by the national committee declared that endorsement of the Coolidge administration was involved in the election.

G. O. P. Won By 65,000 20.
Two years ago the republicans plurality for governor was 28,457 and four years ago it was 65,346. In the senatorial election in 1922, Senator Frederick Hale, republican was elected by a plurality of 26,536 over Oakley C. Curtis, democrat.

During the campaign General Charles G. Dawes, republican nominee for vice president, delivered an address in Maine in which he spoke openly regarding the Klan, declaring that he was opposed to its methods. In the congressional contest in the first district, Ingraham injected the racial issue by declaring for radical modifications of the Volstead act.

BREWSTER SWIFT FIRST PRECINCT

Portland, Maine, September 8.—West Mainland Plantation, in Aroostook county, the first place to report in today's election, gave: For governor, Ralph D. Brewster (R.), 48; William E. Pattangall (D.), nothing.

For United States Senator: Bert M. Fernald (R.), 48; Fulton J. Redman (D.), nothing. The same place in 1920 gave for Governor Parkhurst (R.), 47; McIntire (D.), nothing.

FIRST FIVE TOWNS
RUN TRUE TO 1920.
Portland, Maine, September 8.—The first five towns to report in the Maine election today gave for governor: Brewster (R.), 242; Pattangall (D.), 181.

Four years ago the same towns gave for governor: Parkhurst (R.), 288; McIntire (D.), 209.

LOUISIANA SELECTS CONGRESSMEN TODAY

New Orleans, September 8.—Louisiana democrats, who spread their various primaries over the year so that the lower house of congress, of eight representatives, all of whom seek re-nomination, seven are unopposed. The only contest is in the sixth district, where Holliver Kemp is seeking the place now held by Representative George Fayot.

The senatorial contest is between Senator L. E. Ransdell, seeking re-nomination, and Lee Thomas, mayor of Shreveport. Senator Ransdell made his record the basis of his campaign, while the Shreveport executive has attacked it.

Candidates for district judges and district attorneys and other judicial positions throughout the state are also to be nominated.

COUZENS CHARGES BIG SLUSH FUND

Detroit, Mich., September 8.—(By the Associated Press.)—Challenging as "bunk" the statements made during the campaign attacking his republicanism, Senator James Couzens, standing for nomination at tomorrow's state-wide primary election, declared today he never had voted with the La Follette bloc in congress. He added, however, that he would not hesitate to do so if he thought the bloc right. He charged that "millions are being spent" to keep him out of the senate and no money has been spent to put me there."

Senator Couzens, who was appointed to the senate by Governor Goessbeck to succeed Truman H. Newberry, resigned, is opposed by Federal Judge Arthur J. Tuttle.

Priest Rescues Brother Pastor From Assailants

Chicago, September 8.—Two men, one of them armed with a knife, broke into St. Barnabas' parish house in Beverly Hills and attacked Father Albert Dolan, early yesterday, but were driven off by Rev. Thomas Hurley, priest in charge of St. Barnabas, it was disclosed today. Father Dolan declared he believed he was the victim of a Ku Klux Klan attack. He was severely cut on one arm and on his hands in a struggle with the assailant.

A local controversy over the building of a new church building was believed by the priest to have been connected with the attack.

Both priests were asleep when the intruders entered. Father Dolan was awakened and entered the living room and was slashed by one of the men who quickly fled as Father Hurley came to the rescue and telephoned the police. Both assailants escaped before the police arrived. Neither of them was masked.

The police were told that Father Dolan received a letter, one of threats against his life, some of them from persons professing to be members of the Klan.

Pending the completion of St. Barnabas church, services have been held in the parish house on the opposite side of Longwood drive.

NOT KEY MANAGER, STATES DR. HUFF; LAUDS CANDIDATE

Dr. L. N. Huff Monday night furnished the Constitution with a statement in which he outlined his position in regard to the race for mayor.

He stated that Mayor Sims, in referring to a meeting of Key supporters held at the Huff apartments, made reference to him "as one of Key's campaign managers." Dr. Huff replied that he is not "in any sense a campaign manager for Mr. Key," but that he is supporting him and contributing to his campaign fund. Mayor Sims, he said, sought to make it appear that the gathering was a small one regardless of the fact that "the meeting was one of the largest and best of the campaign."

EMIR OF KURDISTAN ORDERED DEPORTED

Washington, September 8.—Sied Zerdehene, who styled himself, emir and ruler of Kurdistan, today was ordered deported from the United States by Assistant Secretary of Labor White.

With six candidates opposing the re-nomination of Governor Goessbeck, who seeks a third term, has been conducted principally on the governor's record in office.

A lieutenant governor also is to be nominated as well as congressional candidates. There is but one contest among the democrats.

SOUTH CAROLINA IN RUN-OFF PRIMARY

Columbia, S. C., September 8.—With the race between former Governor Cole L. Blease and Representative James F. Byrnes for the United States senate, holding the limelight in popular interest, South Carolina democrats will vote tomorrow in a run-off primary to make nominations in the contests not settled by the first primary of August 28. Besides a candidate for the senate, the party is to nominate for attorney general, state commissioner of agriculture, two seats in congress, and a multitude of county offices.

Both former Governor Blease, who led the ticket, and Representative Byrnes have conducted active campaigns since the first primary in which Senator N. B. Dial and State Insurance Commissioner John J. McMahon were eliminated.

John M. Daniel, assistant attorney general, and Solicitor J. Monroe Spears, of Darlington, are in the run-off for attorney general, and Bonnan Harris, incumbent, and James W. Shealy, of Lexington, are the candidates for commissioner of agriculture.

The congressional contests are in the first and second districts. In the first, Representative W. Turner Logan is opposed by Thomas S. McMillan, speaker of the South Carolina house of representatives, and in the other, Butler B. Hare, of Saluda, and Solicitor Robert L. Gunter are making the race for the seat now held by Representative Byrnes.

In many counties, according to reports reaching here, local contests are overshadowing the senatorial and state contests in point of public interest. A new house of representatives is to be chosen, with several state senatorships also to be filled.

Slightly more than 250,000 democrats are qualified to vote in the primary tomorrow, but of this number nearly 60,000 failed to take advantage of their opportunity to cast their ballots in the first primary.

NO DATES ARE FIXED FOR SAUNDERS CASES

Memphis, Tenn., September 8.—Application of counsel for Clarence Saunders for the fixing of a definite date for the trial of pending litigation between Saunders and the Piggly Wiggly corporation, was denied in United States district court here today by Judge J. W. Ross, who stated that the cases would take their regular place on the docket for trial "at the convenience of the standing criminal and civil docket for the present term."

The ruling involves all suits to which Saunders and the corporation are parties and includes the receivership proceedings against the corporation. Saunders' voluntary proceedings in bankruptcy and the corporation's suit against Saunders for collection of several hundred thousand dollars in debts he is alleged to have contracted during his sensational stock transactions in Chicago and New York more than a year ago.

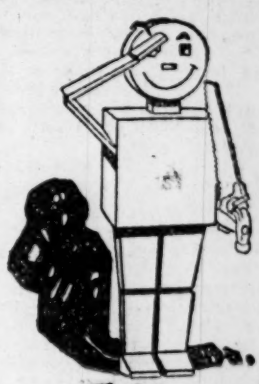

Several days ago Saunders filed an affidavit seeking the discontinuance of Judge Ross in the receivership proceedings on the ground that the judge was personally biased and prejudiced against the complainant. This case is pending before Judge Ross on the report of C. L. Marshall, federal master in chancery, who recommended that the petition be denied.

NEW DIRECTORS NAMED FOR DIXIE HIGHWAY

A TRAINED BUSINESS MAN FOR COUNTY TREASURER

Being No. 5 in a Series of Short, Practical Chats Concerning the Importance of the Position of County Treasurer, by Claude E. Buchanan

TO THE VOTERS OF ATLANTA AND FULTON COUNTY:

On tomorrow (Wednesday) you will be called upon to select a County Treasurer for the ensuing term.

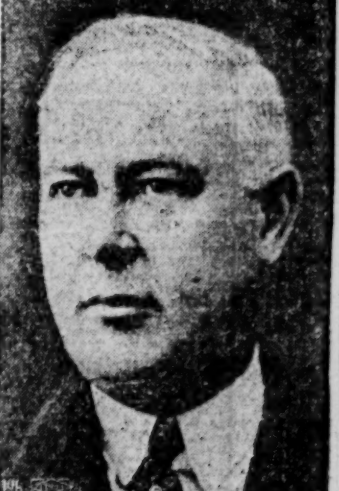

This is one of the most important and responsible positions in the county government—a position that requires experience and training to fit one for its detailed duties. The selection of County Treasurer should be a matter to be carefully considered by every taxpayer in Fulton County, for through the hands of the Treasurer pass annually some eight to ten millions of dollars.

I have tried to conduct my campaign in a clean, high-class way—without criticism of any kind to either one of my opponents. However, I have tried to show the responsibilities of this office and have tried to impress upon voters the importance of putting into the County Treasurer's office some one trained by experience and years of service, and peculiarly fitted for its duties.

I have had 25 years of constant experience in auditing and bookkeeping, and I am sure that in the matter of experience and efficiency I can fill this office to your entire satisfaction.

The people of Atlanta have been very kind to me in the past, and I have had the pleasure of serving Atlanta both as Councilman and Alderman. In 1919 I was elected as Councilman from the 8th ward, and when my two-year term expired I was elected as an Alderman, which place I still occupy. In both cases I have been in good people of this ward insisted on my acceptance of these places, and the fact that I had no opposition either time is evidence of the esteem in which I feel that I am held in my present home ward.

I have served as Chairman of the important Sewer Committee under two mayors and have given this department the most efficient service. The last bond issue for sewers has been spent judiciously, according to the plans originally outlined, and work has been done at the very lowest cost.

CLAUDE E. BUCHANAN

In addition to the bond sewers, hundreds of miles of sanitary sewers have been built all over different parts of the city. In all of this work I feel proud of the part I had in it and the services I was able to render to the people of this city.

Very respectfully yours,
CLAUDE E. BUCHANAN.

John T. Boifeuillet's Official Record Proves Charges Made by His Opponent, O. R. Bennett.

Mr. Boifeuillet's eleventh hour ambush attack on me will go unheeded. His sham of pretense in not desiring personalities in our campaign is best understood when I tell you that all during the recent session of the legislature he was continuously making false statements about me, intending to discredit and reflect upon me personally. His publication in Sunday's paper of the slimy methods since I entered the race against him. It is no wonder that after he has held office for 35 years, to have been supported chiefly from public office all of his life, that he should be indicted because a man opposes him for reelection.

It is because he was born, reared and has always lived in a city that he thinks people in the smaller towns and rural sections of the state are mentally incapacitated to hold office, such as held by him? He would have you believe that the citizens of Dodge county and Eastman, Ga., made the mistake of having had for their representative in the legislature and as mayor of Eastman a man "mentally incapacitated" to write the general statements I have published showing his disposition to loaf on the job. Mr. Boifeuillet disqualified himself to run in this race, if he is man of his word, by agreeing to withdraw from the race if anyone could point to a single instance where he has ever voted against the farming and business interests of the citizens of Georgia. For ten long weeks I have begged him to answer charges that I have made showing his official record to have been against the interests just stated, and he finally replies with the slime and filth that has characterized his campaign since its inception.

I call upon the fair minded men and women to rebuke this gentlemanly attack upon me and by so doing you will rid your Public Service Commission of a man who does nothing except draw his salary as an official and who devotes his time to outside work.

The information I have published in regard to Mr. Boifeuillet is a matter of official record and can be substantiated by any citizen who will take the time to look into these records. Mr. Boifeuillet is a defeated man and nothing other than this belief upon his part would have ever forced him to make the last dying effort as published in the papers of last Sunday.

To the Voters of DeKalb County

At a public meeting of citizens held at Stone Mountain, Friday night, September 5th, the candidates were asked to express themselves regarding the proposed salary system of paying county officers. In response to this request I stated that I was in favor of same.

At this meeting the crowd was polled and all those favoring the salary system were asked to stand. Mr. B. F. Burgess, my opponent, kept his seat.

I am in favor of the salary system of paying county officers and expect to vote on September 10th to ratify the proposed law placing the officers of DeKalb County on a salary basis.

I pledge my best efforts, if elected, to make the salary system a success.

Those favoring a salary system, I feel sure, will agree that the office of Clerk of the Superior Court being the office which now collects the most fees, should be placed in the hands of one friendly to the salary system, if such system is to be adopted in this county.

If elected, I pledge my best efforts to give the citizens of DeKalb County the best Clerk's office in Georgia.

Sincerely yours,

M. C. FARRAR,

Candidate for Clerk Superior Court.

Fort McPherson Is Scene of Afternoon And Evening Parties

Mrs. Hugh G. Parker and Mrs. J. L. Prindle were joint hostesses at a lovely bridge party at their quarters in Fort McPherson Monday afternoon, as a farewell compliment to Mrs. E. E. Hagler, who leaves with her husband to make her home in Baltimore, Maryland.

The rooms were beautiful with bowls of golden-glow and the color scheme of yellow was carried out in every detail. Mrs. Hagler was gowned in black satin, with picture hat of black velvet.

Mrs. Parker wore an orchid georgette.

Mrs. Prindle wore a hand-made yellow voile.

Mrs. Hagler was presented a complete going-away bag.

The guests included Mrs. D. W. Byrher, Mrs. G. C. Graham, Mrs. G. W. Teachout, Mrs. John Gibson, Mrs. Graham, Mrs. Boyd Inman, Miss Jean Kendrick, Mrs. G. E. Bruner, Mrs. E. W. Leard, Mrs. Richard Cox, Miss Elida E. Raffensperger, Mrs. J. Dicks, Mrs. B. M. McFadyen and Mrs. Herbert Perrin.

Captain and Mrs. E. W. Leard entertained at dinner on Monday evening, honoring Colonel and Mrs. Melville L. Jarvis, and celebrating the birthday of Mrs. Jarvis.

The table was covered with a lovely hand-made cloth, with a centerpiece of fall flowers.

Kle Club To Hold Meeting.

The first September meeting of the Kle club, of which Mrs. Edward F. Bond is president, will be held Wednesday at 10:30 o'clock at the Elks' home. Important matters are to be discussed at this meeting and a full attendance is urged.

The ladies who assisted in the sale of tickets to the Labor day game and who have not turned in the money for the tickets sold, may do so at this meeting.

Mrs. Gus Cooper and Mrs. Al Martin will furnish musical entertainment after the meeting.

The benefit card party given by the Kle club Friday night was a great success. Funds were furnished by the Mi-Grape company and was served during the games. Each guest was presented with a small sack of flour, the gift of the Atlanta Milling company.

Proceeds from this affair will be added to the Elks' empty stocking fund.

Mrs. A. S. Simms entertained Monday with a swimming party at the Piedmont Driving club, in compliment to Miss Hunt and her guest.

Prince of Wales Braves Gay Lights of Broadway

COLORFUL DINNER GIVEN BY SIR ESONE HOWARD

BY THE SAUNTERER.
(Copyright, 1924, by John Dille. Reproduction Prohibited.)

Cyosset, L. L. N. Y., September 8. Well, the prince, let it be known among his intimates today that he's not afraid of New York and he's going to play around a bit on Broadway, after all.

In fact, as I told last week, it was true that the prince did spend a gay evening in the El Fay club where Texas Guinan, who came out of Denver years ago to add a bit of lustre to New York night life, is the professional hostess.

He was all set to appear late tonight at the dinner at the Lido Venice. Lord and Lady Mountbatten and the members of the Couden party will be at the tables. There will be the gayest sort of scene and the famous Basque cook imported by Captain Francisco Guardabassi has been busy preparing spaghetti and the peasant dishes for which all the patricians are so keen, believing that this type of cookery is beneficial to the appearance and the health.

Sir Esme's Dinner.
The Piping Rock club was never more attractive than when the prince arrived to attend the dinner given for him by Sir Esme Howard.

The new dining room the pleasant colorings suggestive of the autumn predominated. A stunning feature of the appointments was the new sport wallpaper on which the story of an English squire's day is set forth pictorially in an amusing way.

The members of the polo teams and their respective and respected wives were all guests at this party at the club.

Mrs. Louis E. Stoddard, who is a wholesome, whole-souled and broad-shouldered beauty, was one of the matrons who had a stellar role at this gathering, and others at the table were the slender, fair-haired Mrs. Henry Rogers Winthrop, whose costumes of black chiffon are embellished with silver and cloth-of-silver, and Mrs. Charles Dana Gibson, who swings a whole dinner with her verve.

James A. Burden, Jr., and Douglas Burden, who have been attending many of the parties for the royal visitor, will not be to the fore during the coming week, for they are mourning for their uncle, Malcolm Stane, a brother of their mother.

Mrs. James A. Burden, who died at his home not far away from the Couden estate.

Mrs. David Dowd, the one-time Devenia Burden, but, however, now entered the social arena of which the prince is the central figure, and at all the alfresco gatherings she is really very stunning, for her cheeks have a natural high color and she wears such frocks as leaf-brown silk with capes and hats to match, and on such occasions has made her appearance in bottle-green cloche frocks and little capes of the same color.

She is the daughter of the late J. Townsend Burden and a cousin, therefore, of Mrs. James A. Burden, whose house here in this little village has been longed for by the prince during his visit. Her tall sister, Evelyn Burden, prefers the Newport environment and was not keen about coming to Westbury for the whirl that will continue right up to the minute his royal highness starts for Canada. There are few parties, though, at which beauties such as

Bridge Party Honors Miss Horine And Morgan Van Valkenburg

Miss Edna Horine and Morgan Van Valkenburg, whose marriage will be an interesting social event of October, were honor guests at the informal bridge party given Monday evening by Miss Elizabeth Shewmake, at her home on West Peachtree street. Invited to meet them were a small group of close friends of the honor guests.

The house was decorated with quantities of vari-colored fall flowers, and the prizes included a deck of cards and French novelties.

Mrs. Claude Shewmake and Miss Elizabeth Shewmake assisted in entertaining.

road, Druid Hills, in honor of Miss Poole.

Saturday afternoon Miss Elizabeth Little and Miss Helena Hurnance will entertain at an afternoon tea at the home of Miss Little's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James R. Little, on Peachtree road in compliment to Miss Poole.

Monday, September 15, among the feted occasions honoring the Poole-King wedding will be the large buffet supper and dance given by the groom-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde L. King, at their home on Ponce de Leon avenue.

Tuesday evening, September 16, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ovid Poole will entertain at a buffet supper at "Ovid's" after the rehearsal in honor of their daughter, Miss Poole and Mr. King.

Miss Shewmake was gowned in yellow georgette crepe, richly beaded in amber beads.

Miss Horine's gown was of white tissue embroidered in white and silver, veiling yellow.

Mrs. Shewmake wore a gown of white chiffon embroidered in crystal. Miss Elizabeth Shewmake's gown was of silver lace, embroidered in French flowers.

Miss Margaret Vaughan will entertain informally Thursday evening at her home on East Fourteenth street in compliment to Miss Horine and Mr. Van Valkenburg, who will be honor guests at a series of parties.

Miss Peed Weds Mr. Pennington.
Montezuma, Ga., Sept. 8.—Of interest to a large circle of friends throughout the state was the wedding of Miss Elvie Peed, of Spalding, to Herbert Pennington, of Atlanta, which occurred Monday night at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Peed.

The wedding was a quiet one, only members of the immediate families being present. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. M. Overby.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Pennington left for a trip to points of interest in Tennessee.

Mrs. Pennington is one of Macon county's most popular girls. Mr. Pennington, a former Montezuma boy, is with the civil service department in Atlanta.

Gen. D. C. Shanks Addresses Meeting of Woman's Club

Before a delighted audience, which gathered on the terrace of the Atlanta Woman's club Monday afternoon, one of the most spectacular meetings ever held by the club was directed by Mrs. Norman Shanks, president of the club, who welcomed the members to the opening meetings of the year and gave an outline of her plan of activities.

In bright and beautiful regalia, the Elks' patrol gave a rendition of the drill which won second prize at the Grand Lodge convention held in Boston recently. Each member of the team drilled with such perfect regularity under the command of Captain Joseph Cook, that it was hard to realize that such a splendid display would not merit first prize in such a contest. Sixteen men formed the patrol, besides the captain and flag bearers.

The speaker of the afternoon was General David C. Shanks, of the United States army, who expressed his great appreciation to the club women of the city for their splendid cooperation in staging a successful Defense day. "We were driven to war before," said General Shanks, "because of our unpreparedness, which caused the enemy to take advantage of such a situation. Suppose we say now that the world is at peace and why not take a chance on there never being a reason for preparedness? We cannot afford to do this. The eight southeastern states, which lead in military training, must set the pace and determine a program for preparedness, which is the only way to insure peace."

"We must try and arouse their interest," continued General Shanks, "and let the people understand what our true meaning of preparedness is." The speaker closed with an appeal to the people to take part in this defense test and lend their active support.

Beautiful Dancing.

One of the most beautiful features of the entire program was the group

Little Nancy Mallory Is Given Party by Mrs. David C. Shanks

Mrs. David C. Shanks entertained on Monday afternoon, in celebration of Little Nancy Mallory's second birthday.

The individual tables were placed on the spacious verandas, and each held a vase of pink flowers. The central table held the white birthday cake, embossed with pink rosebuds. Games were played and each little boy drew a brilliant colored balloon, the girls being favored with Japanese parasols.

Little Miss Mallory wore a gown of white voile trimmed in Bulgarian embroidery.

Those invited included Miss Ruby Graham, Virginia Woodland, Margaret Ellen Woodland, Josephine Bolling, Sara Louise Fountain, Mary Elizabeth Dicks, Minnie Caffery, and Donovan P. Yeuell, Jr., Owens Yeuell, Lonny Cooper, Junior Pamiler, Jimmie Maxwell, A. K. Bolling, Jr., Tom Jenkins, Phillip Green, Jim Armstrong, Tommie Dicks, J. L. Prindle, Jr., William Mallory, Jr., Charles Caffery, Jr. and Richard Cox.

dancing by the young ladies who won prizes in the playgrounds recently. The first dance was given by a group of girls representing the Scotch Highlanders under the leadership of Mrs. Harry Stalkie; the next dance was a French dance, with the young ladies dressed in pink, white and rose French models, with picture hats and carrying hat boxes. The central figure in this dance was Miss Kathryn Mion, who was a very graceful leader; this dance was supervised by Miss Elizabeth Dicks, and was from Cochran Park playground.

The Egyptian dance then staged by the young people from Williams Street school was especially queer and beautiful, as by the lovely accompaniment of the Georgia Railway band, to the tune of an Egyptian air, these dancers presented the mysterious Oriental figures. Miss Pearl Acres was the instructor of this last dance and Miss Anita Pierotti was the central figure.

A group of beautiful vocal solos was rendered by Ernest Allen, who possesses a rare tenor voice. The selections were: "The King of the Winds" and "The Happy Three." Mr. Allen was accompanied by Miss L. B. Allen.

The Georgia Railway band rendered a most beautiful band concert prior to the regular program, which greatly delighted the large audience. This popular band also accompanied the group dancing, with very appropriate selections, taken from the music of each of the represented countries. The Egyptian music was especially charming.

Mrs. Norman Sharp, president of the club, wishes to extend her hearty appreciation to Mr. Wallace, the park supervisor, who made it possible for the club to enjoy a lovely platform out in the open, which was beautifully decorated with golden-rod and pines, and Mr. McClelland and Captain Cook for their assistance in the delightful program.

The membership chairman, Mrs. W. D. Williamson, reported the following new members, who were received into the club: Mrs. L. K. Stallings, Mrs. R. P. Smith, Mrs. Adelaide Howell Bower, Mrs. B. C. Turner, Mrs. Henry H. Russell, Mrs. Elsie Mae Brumlow, Miss Hester Platt, Mrs. J. L. McCord, Mrs. Ben Simcox, Mrs. Lena L. Radford, Mrs. Enrico Leide and Mrs. Chester A. Smith.

The Luxury of Love

BY VIOLET DARE

XX-LOVERS' MEETING.

It would have been hard for Mary Hayward's wealthy friends and acquaintances to understand her delight in the tiny, secluded apartment, which seemed to her to be the only real home she had ever had. They would never have been able to understand that to her two rooms, a kitchenette and bath were far more preferable than the spacious, luxurious homes where she would have been a welcome guest had she chosen to accept the invitations that were showered upon her.

But to Mary there could be no question of which was the more desirable. She could maintain her tiny apartment with her own money, money left her by her mother. She delighted in keeping it clean, in doing her own cooking and painting her own furniture when she wanted a new color scheme.

Yet the demands of her life had always been such that she could afford only the briefest visits to her little home. One does not acquire a wealthy husband by hiding away in a cheap apartment in a cheap, out-of-the-way district.

"Now I can stay here till I have to go to England, though," Mary told herself, as she prepared her breakfast the morning after leaving Vera Atwoods'. "And surely he won't want me to come at once. When that time comes," she hesitated, turning on the wide, low couch to look out of the window at the city, looking in the summer sun. She hated to finish her sentence, and admit that when she went to England to join her husband she might as well give up her lease on her own little private corner of the world. "Oh, I'll always keep this place!" she exclaimed, impulsively. "I can't ever let this go!"

It was a day of such intense heat

"You!" He exclaimed.

that even her next on the top floor of the high apartment house was almost unbearable, and she left it at 11 o'clock, knowing that it would be still hotter in the street, yet glad to go. There were errands to do; she must cable Nigel, must call at her aunt's house for mail, and phone Vera Atwood in accordance with her promise to do so, reporting on her own health.

She had done her errands, and was wondering where she would lunch when, as she passed to cross Fifth avenue at Fifth street, she heard a voice that made her tremble with excitement. It was Bruce Gillian's. He was speaking to another man.

in the easy, crisp manner that she remembered so well.

"Certainly I'm all right," he was saying. "You don't think I still need a nurse, do you? If I'm well enough to go to Alaska, certainly I'm able to cross these streets alone. Good-bye—see you when I get back."

She did not wait to turn around. This man had been both cruel and insulting to her, had begged her to marry him, and then proposed to another girl the next morning; had saved her life, and then refused to see her or acknowledge her inquiries about his health after being badly hurt in her service. Yet she was no more able to resist his voice than the rivers can turn in their courses.

"You!" he exclaimed, as she faced him. "Oh, Mary, is it really you?" She nodded as he took her hand in his, and clung to them, unable to speak. The hubbub of traffic was all about them, but she was unconscious of it.

"Come into the cathedral with me for a moment, won't you?" he begged. "We have so many things to say to each other. Or perhaps—perhaps you don't want to talk to me?"

"I've wanted nothing else for days," she answered quickly. "Only after Camilla told me that you didn't want to see me—"

"That I didn't want to see you? But you were the one person in the world I did want to see. I ducked off to the mountains alone, ran away—after her kindness it was a dreadful thing to do, but, you see, I had had things to do with her, had begged her to release me from our engagement, and told her that I didn't love her. My proposing to her was—well, I can't be a cad and tell you how it really happened, but I can tell you that I didn't mean to ask her to marry me. She misunderstood something that I said, told me that she loved me, and you had failed to meet me the night before. I'd heard O'Brien telling you that I had no money, so I thought that you didn't come because of that, that would be making a fool of me—"

"Oh, I didn't come because it would have meant trouble, because I had no control over my own life," she broke in bitterly. "I loved you with all my heart, and when Camilla said that you didn't want to see me after you saved my life, I was desperate. That was how I came to marry Nigel Cavendish."

Gillian turned so white that she feared he would faint.

"You married him?" he exclaimed, his face tense. "Oh, Mary, you belong to me."

Many Georgians Are Sojourning Abroad.

Although transatlantic liners are taking back many Americans who have spent vacations on the continent, other sources from New York and Canadian ports are landing hosts of travelers. Residents from southern states come and go. Never have there been so numerous, and a number of them intend remaining abroad for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Little, of Atlanta and New York, have arrived to make their annual visit to Paris and are stopping at the Hotel Ritz. Mr. and Mrs. Little were passengers in the liner France and were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. John J. Watson, who are also stopping at the Hotel Ritz.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Amorous, of Marietta and Atlanta, have returned to Paris from a trip in Italy, and are at the Hotel Lutetia. They leave for England and Scotland, where they will spend several weeks before returning home.

Miss Hazel S. Morris, of Shreveport, is spending some time at Deauville, the fashionable French resort. Miss Vivian McLean, of Douglas, and Miss Elma Kalmann, of Lumpkin, are visiting Colblenz on the Rhine.

S. A. Lynch, of Atlanta, is visiting Aix-les-Bains, where he is a familiar figure on the golf course there. Russell C. Gates, of Atlanta, is in Paris. Miss Natalie Wilson of Atlanta, has been visiting Aix-les-Bains. Hugh I. Richardson, of Atlanta, is among the many Americans visiting Biarritz.

Recent arrivals at the Hotel Adlon, Berlin, include Denning F. Demorest, of Atlanta. Leonard Haas and Edwin Haas, of Atlanta, are among the American visitors in Paris.

Fred P. Kaufman, of Atlanta, recently attended the regular weekly luncheon in Paris for Rotarians. Miss Myrtle Arnall, of Georgia, and she belong, chaperoned by Miss Margaret Jacobs, and another party from Rochester, N. Y., are now touring Italy with Miss Stone Bush. Both these tours are directed by Mr. Moore from Virginia. In the cool of the evening, most of the party crossed the Via Veneto to enjoy the music of the "Golden Gate."

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ashcraft and Miss Rebecca Ashcraft are at the Hotel Regina in Paris.

Washington Seminary

Its Grammar School Department.

In order to correlate the work of the entire school, Washington Seminary, Atlanta, maintains a well-equipped Primary department in its system of education.

This department includes all the grammar school grades from first to eighth and is in charge of trained and experienced teachers, for it is in the younger years of school life that the child must learn habits of attention and diligence, and be taught how to study.

Classes are divided into small sections, averaging about twelve children, to secure personal attention to the needs of each pupil.

Little boys from first to fifth grades are received in the grammar school department.

Share in Defense Day To Open Year For College Park Woman's Club

Photographs by Mathewson & Price, Staff Photographers.

Mrs. L. O. Freeman, president of the College Park Woman's club, will inaugurate her administration with a pronounced observance of Defense day, taking the lead in this among member clubs in the Atlanta Federation of Women's Clubs.

BY MRS. MCCORD ROBERTS.

Mrs. L. O. Freeman, president of the College Park Woman's club, will formally inaugurate her administration of this live organization with a striking observance of Defense day, her plans placing her club in the forefront of the clubs in the Atlanta Federation of Women's Clubs taking part in this great observance.

Mrs. Freeman declared her interest in and outlined her plans for this occasion at the executive board meeting of the Atlanta Federation of Women's Clubs held on Wednesday, September 3, and presided over by Mrs. T. T. Stevens, president of the federation and general chairman of women's organizations of Atlanta for Defense day.

The College Park participation is under the direction of Mrs. Freeman and will be made an outstanding event in that city's history. Mrs. Freeman is not only president of the woman's club, but is also teacher of a Sunday school class in which 150 College Park men are enrolled and which is both a religious force and a civic asset. To this Sunday school class, Mrs. Freeman turned in planning to take part in Defense day and through it the men of College Park will be enrolled as a special unit attached to Fort McPherson infantry. The club members will take part in the parade by driving their automobiles.

Civic Spirit Pervades Club.

Participation in Defense day is strictly in line with the broad spirit of civic helpfulness pervading this club, which bids fair to grow and expand under Mrs. Freeman's leadership—a leadership based on the energetic work and constructive ideas she has carried frequently to successful realization and reinforced by an attractive appearance and unusual fluency as a speaker. She has been president of the College Park Woman's Missionary society for three years, is district secretary for Atlanta Women's Missionary union, is a member of the state board of the Baptist Women's Missionary union, has been secretary of the College Park Woman's club for the past two years and a member for seven years. Officers for the club year just beginning include Mrs. Oscar Palmour, first vice president; Mrs. C. F. Holt, second vice president; Mrs. T. H. Parsh, recording secretary; Mrs. Hazel Eton, corresponding secretary; Mrs. J. T. Gresham, treasurer; Miss Lucile Mason, librarian; Mrs. V. C.

Mason, auditor; Mrs. H. R. Chase, parliamentarian.

To Build Club Home.

Most ambitious is the club plan to build a club home, which when completed shall be a community house where all civic enterprises may center and develop. The plan is to begin with a $10,000 building designed to form the central unit of a club plant which may be later proportioned to the needs of the locality. Though the club has not yet begun the year's regular meetings, work for the club house is already well under way. Mrs. Freeman has not having even the brooding days of August to smother her enthusiasm. Using the always effective "endless chain" method, a cycle of neighborhood teas have kept alive club interest during the mid-summer heat. The cycle was begun with a tea given by the president. At the tea each guest pledged herself to in turn give a tea and invite ten of her immediate neighbors, and so on, the teas to be continued until practically every woman in College Park has had an opportunity to become acquainted with at least one neighbor member of the woman's club. At each tea business and social affairs are mingled, besides the friendliness developed through these gatherings, much work is accomplished in preparation for the annual Christmas bazaar, the annual flower show and the booth and restaurant this club will have at the Southeastern fair.

Flower Show Has Brought Renown.

The annual flower show conducted by the club each November has won real renown for this club, the event having long since become a settled custom and having fostered a group of flower lovers who win prizes and honors far and near, almost as a habit. Mrs. Oscar Palmour, president of the club, has displayed perfect chrysanthemum blossoms at these shows so steadily and so lavishly that she has become a well-known figure in the horticultural world. Out of these shows has grown a vision which the woman's club is setting out to make real—a vision of a rose-red crepe myrtle tree on every lawn and a gorgeous far-flung streamer of these blossoming trees alongside the avenue which stretches straight through from the north to the south boundary of College Park.

Famous Musical Is a Member.

An all fresco musical at the home of Dr. and Mrs. D. D. Moncrief on Thursday evening, September 11, will be the opening feature of the club year and the occasion promises to be an artistic success as well as a most agreeable method of inaugurating the regular meetings for the season. Adell Moncrief, son of Mr. and Mrs. Moncrief, and president of the Dramatic society of Mercer, has arranged the program and indications point to a record-breaking gathering of club members.

Music during the winter will be an outstanding interest in the club, as Mrs. W. W. Bateman is chairman of this feature. Mrs. Bateman, wife of College Park's mayor, is nationally known as Florence Golsen, an artist noted not only for her exquisite rendition of the music of other composers, but for her own composition, her songs and choruses being in constant demand on occasions as important as national music week. Mrs. Bateman is also vice president of the College Park Music Study club.

The College Park Woman's club is expected to open with close to 200 members and has every prospect of going forward along its proven lines to the enhancement of its already fine record of achievement.

Permanent Home and New Cafeteria for Y. W. C. A. Planned

The directors of the Young Women's Christian association held an all-day session Monday at their present headquarters, on the fourth floor of the Peachtree Arcade, discussing final plans for moving on September 15, from their present location to 19-21 West Baker street, where they will establish permanent headquarters on property that the association owns, a two-story frame building on a lot 60 by 108 feet. The Y. W. cafeteria that is now located at the Peachtree Arcade will be moved to the third floor of the Calhoun building on the northeast corner of Broad and West Alabama streets.

Two permanent improvements at West Baker street location, specially discussed by the directors, will be the new gymnasium to be 50 by 70 feet, and the swimming pool, 30 by 60 feet. The two new units will be the first in construction in order to meet the needs of girls and women in Atlanta for a modern health center. Two local civic leaders were honored by the board at their Monday's session, Miss Sally Eugenia Brown and Mrs. Samuel Lumpkin. Miss Brown was made an honorary life member of the Young Women's Christian association board of directors in recognition of her extended length of service as a director. The honoree resigned from the directorate in order that she may have undivided time to devote to her committee work for the Y. M. C. A. Home, 58-62 West Baker street. Mrs. Lumpkin was elected to the present board of directors, having formerly served as chairman of membership. Details of the establishment of the two departments of the association in new quarters were given by Mrs. W. A. Albright.

Those present included Mrs. Archibald Davis, president; Mrs. J. Russell Porter, Mrs. Julian Robinson, Mrs. M. Ashby Jones, Mrs. W. A. Albright, Mrs. W. R. Prescott, Mrs. Stephen Barnett, Mrs. S. F. Boykin, Mrs. F. M. Robinson, Mrs. J. P. Averill, Mrs. D. I. Carson, Mrs. E. K. Large, Mrs. R. K. Rambo, Mrs. S. F. Lumpkin, Miss Irma E. Finley, Y. W. C. A. general secretary, Miss Elizabeth Gregg, Miss Genevieve Saunders and secretaries of the association, Misses Lucy Marvin Adams, Carrie Scandrett, Lottie Angell, Ruth Martin and Mrs. Martha Tow Gereke.

Miss Zattau To Give Afternoon Tea

Miss Margaret Zattau will entertain the members of the Atlanta Club of Wesleyan college at a tea Tuesday afternoon at her home on Highland avenue. All new students who are planning to attend Wesleyan, and members of the Alumnae association are cordially invited to be present. Miss Zattau, who is president of the club, will receive from 4 to 6 o'clock.

Constipation lays you wide open to other diseases—relieve it with Kellogg's Bran

Don't take chances with constipation! This terrible ailment can send poisons into your system which may lead to serious diseases. The longer those poisons accumulate, the more dangerous they become. Begin at once to free your system from them.

Eat Kellogg's Bran. If eaten regularly, it is guaranteed to relieve the most chronic cases of constipation, or your grocer will return your money. It is nature's own way to make the intestine function naturally and regularly—for Kellogg's Bran acts exactly as nature acts. It makes forever unnecessary the use of habit-forming drugs and pills.

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumpled, has proved successful when all else has failed. This is because Kellogg's is ALL bran. Doctors everywhere agree that only ALL bran can be 100 per cent effective—they recommend Kellogg's Bran.

Eat at least two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases with every meal. You will like it. You will enjoy the delicious nut-like flavor—the exclusive Kellogg's flavor.

Kellogg's Bran is the road back to health. It is made in Battle Creek and is served in individual packages at the leading hotels and clubs everywhere. Ask for it at your restaurant. It is sold by all grocers.—(adv.)

The Well-Dressed Maid.
Dear Wally:
I'm up in the air!
Please tell what dress I ought to wear
When I go to a baseball game
With my best fellow.

Puzzled Mame.
Dear Wally:
Well, I declare!
So that has you up in the air!
Come down, then, for at baseball games

Ball gowns are proper for the dames
Preparedness.

Dear Wally:
I'm just nineteen.
A man I know says I'm a queen.
His wife has left him. Do you think
I should go with him?

Ticked Pink.
Dear Ticked Pink:
You make me laugh!
Go get a nice new photograph.
When for divorce his wife sues.
You'll then look pretty in the news.

These Days.
Hoyle: "Last Sunday's sermon was the most interesting one I've listened to in years."
Shaw: "Too bad I missed it, old man. Our radio set is out of order."
—Alex Werner.

Falsely Accused.
Shelton: "You know we have to economize, and yet you will play bridge and lose money!"
Mrs. Shelton: "That's not true,
Walter! Whenever I lose, I always give my L. O. U. to the winner."
—Mrs. Bernard Livingston.

A Full Supply.
The keeper was having his pearls gates overhauled. In fact, the entire place was undergoing a general housecleaning. Everything was being shifted about to make room for the celesttial painters. Said one, as he lifted a heavy golden utensil: "Where shall I stand this pot of gold that we keep at the end of the rainbow, sir?"

Without glancing up from his lodge, the keeper answered:
"Better place it over there, in the cloud room, right next to the silver
linch." —Miriam Otto.

Sad Memories.
Kind Lady: "Why did you shudder
so when I mentioned pie?"
The Tramp: "I used to be a movie

a smouldering pile of rubbish, the site of his recent prison. He unslung the rifle and commenced to creep forward cautiously, making for a clump of tall pines on the north side of the camp. Nothing happened to arrest his progress, and twenty minutes later he gained his objective. The largest of the pines reared up—a perfectly perpendicular growth of a hundred and fifty feet with its lower portion shorn of branches by the axe of some woodman long dead. These amputations left a few inches of growth projecting from the main trunk and afforded excellent aid for climbing. He slung his rifle over his shoulder and commenced to scale the dizzy height. The last thirty feet rose well above the neighboring trees, and from his forked seat he looked down into the camp. The marquee was some five hundred yards away from its entrance, facing him. The camp was in a state of great activity. Horses were being harnessed to sleighs, and stores of various kinds were being unpacked. Indians hung about in groups, gesticulating incessantly, their heads adorned with black and white feathers, and their belts bristling with all kinds of weapons. Some of them carried rifles, but it pleased him to notice that a large number boasted no firearms whatever—an omission due to the smoking pile on the fringe of the camp. For half an hour O'Neill waited. Men entered and emerged from the marquee, but Flood did not appear. Parties of Indians began to "strike" the smaller tents and the fully-laden sleighs were being drawn up in lines. His limbs became cramped, and he changed his position from time to time, never removing his eyes from the square opening in the marquee. At length Flood appeared. O'Neill put the rifle to his shoulder and took careful aim. Crack! The explosion brought down a shower of snowdust—the men near him gasping fixedly at a small round hole in the tent, invisible to O'Neill. He raised his rifle and fired again. Flood's wooden tongue took a leap from his head. The men broke and ran. O'Neill cursed savagely, and was about to fire again, when there was an explosion below, and a bullet whistled by his head. He looked down, and through the mass of branches caught a glimpse of several figures, also a rifle barrel pointing steadily at him. "Move an inch and I'll tell you," yelled a voice. The pointing weapon and the grim face behind it—Rene's—were sufficient to force discretion. Three feet behind O'Neill was the main trunk. To reach it and shelter behind it was impossible. He craned his neck forward and beheld eight men in all. "Drop the rifle or I shoot," cried Rene. O'Neill dropped it and heard it clatter among the branches. "Now come down." "All right," he replied. "You are just the man I wanted to see, Rene." He commenced to descend, dropping from branch to branch, until he was on the lowest, thirty feet above Rene's head. He made a pretense of crawling along it to reach the trunk, but then immediately above the half-breed dropped like a thunderbolt. The rifle went off, and the flame scorched him. A tenth of a second later his feet met Rene's face. With a sickening scotch his weight dropped full upon the upturned face of the unfortunate man beneath. One swift look at the prone figure convinced him that Rene would perpetrate no more outrages. He hit out at the man nearest him and nearly broke his knuckles on a hard jaw-bone. The recipient measured his length in the snow, his knife falling from his senseless fingers. O'Neill swooped down and secured the weapon. The remaining half-dozen went for him like wild cats. Curses and groans and imprecations followed. One of them, with a face like a rat, flung his knife spearwise through the air. O'Neill swerved and the weapon found an unexpected mark. It fixed in the throat of a fat little ruffian, who was on the verge of putting "paid" to the account of Trooper Shane O'Neill. That left but five to deal with, but they were five desperate men, skilled in the use of the knife and wiry as leopards. Two of them pounced on O'Neill from behind, locked his arms and waited for their comrades to administer the coup de grace. "Hold!" The man immediately in front of O'Neill let the knife fall to his side as he beheld the figure of Flood, accompanied by a Cree. "The chief!" he gasped. Flood came forward and smiled as he stared into O'Neill's eyes. "It was lucky I came," he lisped, "they might have killed you in that vulgar fashion. I'm glad I have forestalled such a calamity." (Continued Tomorrow.)
